THE

BOSTON ALMANAC

FOR THE YEAR

BY S. N. DICKINSON.

---

BOSTON:

PUBLISHED BY THOMAS GROOM & CO.
STATIONERS' HALL, 82 STATE STREET.

PREFACE.

AN increased demand for the Boston Almanac, has encouraged the Publisher to make renewed exertions for meeting the expectations of the Public. Such materials are collected from one year to another, as are presumed to be useful, convenient, and instructive.

The Calendar was calculated by Professor Benjamin Peirce, of Cambridge; whose accuracy is its highest recommendation. A condensed Diary of the general and local events of 1843, embodies all that is essential for reference, while it constitutes an essential link in the chain of some future antiquary. Historical memoranda relating to the early condition of Boston, are introduced without apology, upon the presumption that they would be acceptable to every class of readers. Both were furnished by Dr. J. V. C. Smith.

Experience has demonstrated the utility of a Business Directory, omitted the past year, which is again introduced on account of its importance both to citizens and strangers.

We have this year omitted the little map of Boston; our readers are all familiar with its features, and its exclusion may not be considered as a very great loss. In our next Almanac we intend to present a fine new map of the city, of about four times the size of the old one. We hope this may prove a rich compensation to all friends, and particularly to those who may feel the loss of the old map in the present volume.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1843, by SAMUEL N. DICKINSON.

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the District of Massachusetts.

Epact, . . . . . 11	Roman Indiction, . . . . . 2
Lunar Cycle, or Golden Number, 2	Julian Period, . . . . . 6557

The Astronomical computations for the Boston Almanac are given generally for Mean Time at Boston.

The time of the Sun's Rising and Setting, and the Length of Days, have reference to the Sun's Upper Limb. The Moon's Rising and Setting are also given for the Upper Limb, corrected for a mean semi-diameter of  $15' 33''.1$ , a Mean Equatorial Horizontal Parallax of  $57' 4''.7$ , and a Mean Horizontal Refraction of  $36' 6''.9$ .

ECLIPSES.

In 1844 there will be five Eclipses,—three of the Sun and two of the Moon.

I. A Total Eclipse of the Moon, May 31st, partially visible at Boston.
Moon rises eclipsed at 7h. 32m. End of Eclipse, at 7h. 47m. Eve., Mean Time at Boston.

II. A Partial Eclipse of the Sun, June 15th, invisible at Boston.
This Eclipse will be visible in the South Pacific and Great Southern Oceans.

III. A very small Partial Eclipse of the Sun, November 10th, invisible at Boston.

This Eclipse will be visible only in a small portion of the Great Southern Ocean.

IV. A Total Eclipse of the Moon, November 24th, visible at Boston.

Events in Boston in Nov. and Dec. 1842.

NOVEMBER.

31. A great storm occurred this evening. A vessel at Russia wharf, several small ones at Fort Hill wharf, at Long and at some of the North end wharves, were variously injured, and some wholly ruined. Ship Emeline, at Lewis's wharf, ship Emporium, at Commercial, barque Ten Brothers, at the same place, and ships Riga and Olive Branch, at Central, were materially damaged. It would occupy too much room to particularize all the disastrous effects of this furious storm to the shipping interest in the city of Boston.

DECEMBER.

3. In the case of Trevett vs. Boynton, in the Court of Common Pleas, it was ruled, amongst other things, that a livery stable keeper is bound to furnish safe and sufficient vehicles and harness.

7. Rev. Amos Smith, recently from the Theological School, Cambridge, was ordained colleague Pastor of the New North Church, with the Rev. Dr. Parkman.

8. John Perkins was brought before the Police Court, charged with tying up his wife, who wished to go out shopping. For doing this strange act he was fined $3 and costs.

Yesterday afternoon, there was a snow storm, accompanied with a violent wind, that blew with prodigious force. It was believed to be severe in the Bay, though no damage seems to have happened. Snow, to-day, is several inches deep, making excellent sleighing.

19. Two gentlemen took from a stable in School street, a horse called Rob Roy, and drove to Woburn. On their return, he became unmanageable, ran, and wholly escaped from them. He was not found till three days after, in a ravine, half a mile from Horn Pond, in the midst of briars and stones, quite exhausted, with the sleigh still attached. He lived but a few minutes after being discovered.

20. From an Abstract of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, it appears that the Banks in the State, in operation, are 111; with an aggregate capital of $32,531,050. There has been a reduction in the capital, since last year of $128,740.

Intelligence has just arrived of the extraordinary preparations for a mutiny on board the U. S. Brig Somers, Capt. McKenzic; and the execution at the yard arm of Midshipman Philip Spencer, between 18 and 19 years of age, son of the Secretary of War, Hon. John C. Spencer, now Secretary of the Treasury.

21. The steamer Britannia arrived, 17 days from Liverpool, facing a series of gales, during the whole passage. News came of the provisional condition of peace with China, purchased by paying the British Government $21,000,000.

24. A chaise, with a lady in it, passing down Tremont st., came in contact with a large wagon, at the corner of Winter st., by which both shafts were broken off at the cross-bar. The boot being buckled up, escape was impossible, and, although the horse ran a little way, no serious injury was done. Take care, in driving.

25. Miss Mary Ann Kerr, 15 years of age, was walking home from singing school, with another young lady, at Cambridgeport, when they were met by a man running in an opposite direction, who, in passing, stabbed her in the right groin, coming near severing the great artery of the thigh. George Fellows was arrested and put under $2,000 bonds, as the suspected perpetrator of the wicked act.

28. William Pratt died in consequence of an accidental fall on the ice, at the door of his father's residence in Summer street. In attempting to open the gate, his foot slipped, and he fell, wounding the artery in the right temple. This occurred on Saturday last. It was believed that an injury was inflicted on the brain.

Massachusetts has given $6,000,000 for religious and literary purposes, within 30 years, besides large incidental bequests to individuals.

Whole number of petitions by bankrupts in Massachusetts, up to Dec. 19, was 2,392.

JANUARY.

1. Rev. Mr. Streeter is supposed to marry more couples than any other clergyman in the Union. On Sunday last, he stated in the desk, that he had married, during the past year, 118 pairs.

2. The City Government was organized for the present year. Chief Justice Shaw administered the oath of office to the Mayor, and he in turn, swore in the Boards of Aldermen and Common Council. Edward Blake was subsequently elected President of the Common Council.

A mercantile house in Boston became embarrassed in 1837, and settled with all the creditors by paying 60 per cent. Business was recommenced, and being eminently successful, on new year's day, a gift of 40 cents on the dollar, amounting to $15,000, was made to each creditor.

Henry Tamlin was complained of at the Police Court for disturbing the congregation of the Methodist Church, North Bennett st., and fined $3.

A poor woman walking down Hanover street yesterday, fell into a coal hole in a side walk, and was dangerously injured. Let a severe penalty be inflicted upon all persons guilty of setting such traps for foot passengers.

4. Mr. Greenbank, the elocutionist, gave a soiree for the blind, the proceeds of which amounted to $115.75.

The Legislature convened and organized in the Senate by electing P. W. Leland, President, 12 votes being necessary to a choice. Lewis Josselyn was chosen Clerk, having 14 votes out of 24. In the House, Luther S. Cushing was re-elected Clerk.

7. Daniel P. King, of Danvers, a Whig, was finally elected Speaker of the House. The election sermon was delivered by Rev. S. C. Jackson, of Andover.

It is asserted in the New Bedford Bulletin, that Benjamin Russell, Esq, the veteran editor, has heard every election sermon since 1783. On Saturday last he was at the Old South to hear the 60th!

9. Mr. Stevens was re-elected Sergeant-at arms, to the Legislature. Hon. Mr. Leland, President of the Senate, resigned the chair. Hon. Frederick Robinson, chosen President of the Senate. Whole number of votes cast for Governor of the Commonwealth, 117,892: of which Marcus Morton had 56,491; John Davis, 54,939. Fifty-nine other candidates were voted for, by the people, for the office, and fifty-three for Lieutenant Governor.

On Saturday, George Bigney, alias Bill Anderson, a notorious burglar, was arrested by Constable Clapp, upon a requisition upon an indictment for having certain lace goods in his possession stolen from the store of J. Phillips & Co. in Washington street. He was abundantly supplied with skeleton keys, picklocks, forceps, and a plunder bag.

alarmed the robbers, who fled without obtaining any booty.

Theodore J. Martin, before the Municipal Court, for cheating by false pretences, various merchants and booksellers, amounting to a very large sum, was brought in guilty.

20. The Caledonia steamship arrived from England, with 89 passengers; 19 having been left at Halifax.

19. Captain Lott arrived in the steamer Caledonia, fourteen and a half days from Liverpool, bringing 97 passengers, 19 of whom were left at Halifax. Mr. Macready, the celebrated tragedian, came for a second professional tour in this country.

23. A pair of twins, 83 years of age, residing in Charlestown, visited the top of Bunker Hill Monument. They are venerable ladies, and were therefore conveyed up gratis.

30. A singular kind of contest has been maintained of late between the trustees of Bowdoin College and the heirs of the late Governor Bowdoin, in regard to the possession of a large piece of land, lying partly in Bowdoin street, and partly facing Beacon street, till it got the title of the disputed territory. Happily for the parties, an amicable settlement has finally been made, satisfactory to all who have had any special rightful interest in the estate. The terms of compromise were, seven tenths of the property to the surviving son of the late owner, and the remaining three tenths to the college.

OCTOBER.

1. Captain Lott, in the Caledonia, sailed yesterday, with 46 passengers.

2. The Acadia came in from Liverpool, bringing an account of the total loss of the U. S. Steam Frigate Missouri, on the 26th of August, while taking in coal, at Gibraltar.

4. This morning, the Mayor, and members of the city government, were present at the laying of the corner-stone of a new school-house in Bedford street, on the site occupied by the mansion of the late Bishop Parker, which is designed for the accommodation of the Latin, Grammar, and English High Schools. The address, by the Mayor, was exceedingly interesting and appropriate. A box was placed under the stone, which contained a plate, bearing a Latin and English inscription, together with coins of 1843, Massachusetts Register, Boston Almanac, history of the Latin School, the daily papers, rules and regulations of the Grammar and Primary Schools, and the names of the members of the School Committees.

15. Again the steamer Acadia left port, with 12,000 letters, and 50 bushels of newspapers!

A regatta of the pilot boats of Boston harbor was very much admired by gentlemen interested in maritime affairs. They started from between two vessels stationed near the Graves, and sailed round another station 14 miles E. S. E., and returned to the first point. The wind was nearly W. S. W.

18. The steamer Hibernia arrived, with 96 passengers, having had a fine voyage.

25. On Wednesday morning, Lieut. George C. Wyche, attached to the U. S. ship Ohio, was found dead, suspended by the neck, in an apartment under the court-house. An investigation was made by the city government for the purpose of ascertaining whether there had been any neglect or improper conduct on the part of members of the city watch, in regard to the matter. It was satisfactorily established, that the watchmen had not transcended the line of duty.

Alden Bradford, L. L. D., an estimable citizen, formerly Secretary of the Commonwealth, a man of letters, and an author of many valuable historical and biographical works, died on Wednesday last, at the age of 78 years.

The funeral of Lieut. Wyche was attended from the ship Ohio, by Commodore Downs, and all the officers who could be spared from duty, with many personal friends of the deceased. He was buried in the grounds of the Naval Hospital, at Chelsea. The services were very solemn and imposing.

30. A package of $4,000, in bills, was stolen from under the seat of the proprietor of the Quincy stage, Mr. Gillet, as the carriage was on the point of leaving No. 9 Elm street. On arriving at Quincy, the loss was discovered, there being a counterfeit resemblance to the true package placed under the cushion. Pieces of brown paper were nicely done up in the form of bills.

NOVEMBER.

1. The steamer Hibernia left. Being detained by head wind and tide, she did not get away as seasonably as usual, from the wharf.

3. Two brothers, John and Richard Rand, supposed to have robbed Mr. Gillet's stage of the $4,000, were arrested on Tuesday. Both were standing round the stage before it started from Elm street, and Richard rode out to Quincy.

4. On Saturday evening, the steamer Britannia arrived, bringing late intelligence from England. She had 95 passengers.

9. From January 1st to November 1st, there were erected in Boston proper, 544 brick houses and stores; wooden dwellings and stores, 194; stables, 56; brick school-houses, 4; 1 brick church; 1 of wood; and 6 other large buildings; making 808. At South Boston, 1 Catholic church, 5 brick houses, 142 of wood, 2 stores, and 4 workshops, were erected; and at East Boston, 150 wooden houses, and 7 of brick; making a total of 1,118. This makes 300 more than were erected in 1842. Many small structures are not included in this enumeration.

George Gay, Esq. a counsellor at law, of Boston, having gone to Andover yesterday, took a seat in the cars a little past 3, P. M., and died almost instantly, of an apoplectic fit. He was very much respected.

11. One Wm. Henry Lowell was arrested in Cambridge street for attempting to rob Ichabod Bullen, between Boston and Needham, on the evening of November 4th. At a turn in the road, Lowell seized the horse by his head, and demanded Mr. Bullen's money. Mr. Bullen gave the ruffian one or two blows, which made him take to his heels. Only two evenings before, an attempt was made to drag Mr. Bullen out of his wagon, near the same place, by a stratagem.

Mr. Clark, a milkman, of Brighton, on his return home on Saturday night, from Boston, over the Western Avenue, discovered a man on the back of the wagon, who demanded his money. Mr. Clark gave him two or three severe blows with the whip, when the rascal jumped off and fired a pistol at Mr. C., without doing him any harm, however. Search was soon made, but it being dark and rainy, no trace of the robber could be found.

14. On Tuesday, John W. and Richard L. Rand were both tried for stealing a package of $4,000 from the Quincy stage. John was found guilty, but the jury did not agree in regard to Richard.

17. At a meeting of the Independent Cadets, a vote was unanimously passed, that intoxicating drinks should be dispensed with at all meetings of the company.

The Atlantic steamer Acadia arrived, in good condition, this morning, having sailed from Liverpool on the 4th, bringing 52 passengers. The celebrated Norwegian violin player, Olaus Bull, who is believed to be the most accomplished player in the world on that instrument, was one of the number.

20. Capt. Lott, in the steamer Caledonia, arrived yesterday, in a little over 15 and a half days from Liverpool, with 52 passengers.

25. John W. Rand, convicted of having stolen $4,000 from the Quincy stage, was sentenced to 1 day solitary, and 4 years' hard labor in the state prison.

30. The Caledonia sailed, with 30 passengers, 20,000 letters, and the usual number of bushels of papers.

DEC. 1. Wm. Appleton, Esq., of Boston, a gentleman distinguished for his extensive benevolence, placed $10,000 with the trustees of the hospital, the interest of which is to defray the expenses of patients in the M'Lean Asylum, who, for want of means, are obliged to leave before restored.

DECEMBER.

1. The Clerk of the County Court of Dallas, Alabama, was fined $560 for having issued a marriage license to a young man to marry the daughter of a Mr. Beal, aged 12 years only.

7. James Downs, of South Dennis, Mass., 15 years of age, shooting at a mark, the breech-pin of the gun blew out, and caused a bad fracture of his skull. It is the third accident resulting from blowing out of a breech-pin, in that vicinity, within a few years.

8. A child in Philadelphia sneezed a cherry-stone from one nostril, that had the appearance of having partially germinated. For months the child had expressed uneasiness, and had an eruption about the face; having suffered greatly through the summer, without being able to explain the real cause of the difficulty.

10. The New York papers chronicle the death of Woodworth, the poet, an amiable, worthy man, in Pearl street, after a protracted illness. He was the author of the Moss-Covered Bucket, which will immortalize him.

10. In the course of 193 years the mines of Almaden have been wrought on account of the Spanish government; and yielded £55,000,000 sterling worth of silver. The depth is now 800 feet.

Elder Thurston, of Lowell, had managed to obtain nearly $50,000 from the operatives for building a church, a block of adjacent buildings, and about $10,000 on his own account, at Dracut. It is supposed that creditors may get about 50 cents on a dollar. One poor woman put in $400, laid aside by picking waste, and has lost it all.

15. It was stated, that out of 150,000 children instructed in a Sunday School attached to the Methodist Church, John street, New York, not one had ever been convicted of a crime. It was also stated, that of all the convicts at Botany Bay, one only had ever been a Sunday School scholar.

18. Mrs. Handy, of Providence, has withdrawn her suit against Elder Knapp, for libel, on his paying $200, and acknowledging his fault.

By a Report made to the Common Council of New York, it is ascertained that the entire cost of the Croton Water Works, is $12,500,000, the annual interest of which is $655,000.

A verdict of $905 was rendered in the Circuit Court of the 8th New York District, against the Auburn and Rochester Rail-road Companies, for damage done by fire to the house of Wm. Cromwell, occasioned by a spark from a locomotive. This establishes the liability of these corporations.

General Events in 1843.

JANUARY.

2. Nichols, late Secretary of the New York Life and Trust Company, was a very adroit robber. The way of accomplishing his embezzlements was thus: He applied the money he received to his own use, carrying it to the credit of the proper party in the ledger, but without entry in the cash-book. His frauds run back to 1838, and amount to $250,000. The capital of the Company is $1,000,000; the assets in its possession, over $5,000,000. $4,000,000 consist of deposits.

Within the past year, in the city of New York, the following great sums have been embezzled: By Nichols, as above, $250,000; by the Cashier of the Commercial Bank, $50,000; by Thos. Lloyd, City Collector of its revenue, $100,000; by James T. Schermerhorn, Sec. Ocean Insurance Company, $150,000; by John Ahem, Mayor's Clerk, $50,000; by James Ward, 1st City Marshal, $50,000; by Pollock, Clerk of the Bank of America, $20,000: beside one of $10,000, which was so small a sum that no one thought much about it. Total, $680,000.

4. Joseph M. Robbins, while adjusting a belt in a mill, at Dra-cut, was caught by it and carried up to the ceiling with such tremendous force as to break a hole through the flooring. So closely was he jammed, that the machinery, and finally the water-wheel, were stopped. The neck being broken, he died instantly.

In Philadelphia, a knock at the humble dwelling of Patrick McQuillan, at midnight, brought Mrs. McQuillan to the door, where she saw a handsomely dressed lady, who begged a drink of water. The night being extremely cold, after drinking she began to shiver, and asked to enter. She soon began to complain, and took to the bed. Very shortly, a child was born. Every thing finally being made comfortable, Mrs. McQuillan laid down with the stranger mother and child. Just at daylight, hearing the door slam, she arose. The babe was there, but the beautiful lady has not been heard of since.

8. Mr. Ridgeway, of Lowell, Mass., hired two strangers to carry him from Newburyport to Haverhill. On arriving, they called for wine, but the bar-keeper refusing to take their money, one of them thrust his hand into Mr. Ridgeway's pocket, containing $63. They then went out under pretence of going to ascertain whether the disputed dollar was genuine, but made off effectually.

Mrs. Swain, of Philadelphia, while eating cabbage, got something fast in her throat, which prevented her from swallowing food. Emetics, &c. were resorted to ineffectually; and, having gradually grown weak from want of sustenance, she died on the tenth day. After death, a small bone, about one inch in length, was found directly across the œsophagus, having penetrated the flesh both sides, which kept it fast.

Dr. Baker, of Lynn, Mass., died very suddenly from the effects of mortification. He examined a dead body, at the same time having a slight wound on one finger, by which the deadly poison was absorbed, which cost him his life.

9. Mr. Henry Shelton, of Boston, sailed in the brig Hector, from New York. Just before the pilot left, it was ascertained that Mr.

Shelton was not on board. The vessel put back, and lowered the boat, but no trace of him could be found. It is said he had recently left the Insane Asylum at Hartford, Conn. The body was subsequently found at Shrewsbury Inlet.

11. Mr. Wise, of Chambersburg, Penn., recently mulcted in a sum of $1,500 for breach of marriage promise, is paying it through the assistance of the bankrupt law.

A pedler sold some German silver spoons, in Georgetown, Mass., to a lady, and took her old silver ones, besides boot. On the return home of the husband, he went in pursuit, and overtook the rascal, who gave up the silver and paid $10 to be let off.

13. A man was fined $10 at Troy, O., for kissing a married lady. A paper adds, that there is no law against kissing girls! Qu.?

15. Mrs. Walker and her little son were going from their dwelling, Eden street, in Baltimore, to church; and as the lad was going a little in advance, a negro ran out and threw a cup-full of vitriol or aquafortis in his face. He was made nearly blind. No detection of the offender.

17. The largest steamboat in the world was launched at the foot of Twelfth street, New York, for the Troy Company, who intend plying it between Troy and N. York, twice every day, in summer. Extreme length on deck, 330 feet; breadth of beam, exclusive of the guards, 30 feet 6 inches.

Snow in Nashville, Tenn., is from 12 to 15 inches deep, a greater quantity than has fallen there before for 20 years.

The American Theatre, at New Orleans, was closed for want of support. Mr. James C. Caldwell, announces that since the opening of his new theatre, his losses have exceeded $200 per night; and he further says, that since the completion of the St. Charles Theatre, Nov. 30, 1830, to its conflagration, March 12th, 1842, he incurred losses to the amount of $100,000, in supporting the establishment.

At Memphis, Tenn., an earthquake was felt, the severest since the great shakes of 1811. There was a great rush at the doors of the theatre, and, indeed, every where else, to get out into the air.

Considerable alarm was created at St. Louis, Mo., by shocks of an earthquake. One chimney of the sessions house of the Presbyterian Church was thrown down. Since the shocks of the New Madrid quakes, there has been nothing like it experienced.

19. Justice is said, somewhat boastingly, to be steadily administered in New Jersey, although relaxed in efficacy elsewhere. Three negroes, who dreadfully assaulted old Mr. and Mrs. Mountfort, while attempting to rob their premises, were severally sentenced on each indictment to five years in the state prison, — fifteen years each, — and a fine of $500.

Commodore Ap Catesby Jones, commander of the U. S. forces in the Pacific, is said to have been recalled, for his queer doings in taking possession of the little Mexican settlement of Monterey, in California.

Mr. Wyman, Keeper of the Keene, N. H. jail, in company with his little boy, 12 years old, entered the area of the jail, as usual, to lock up the prisoners, four in all. He had locked the inside door and put the key in his pantaloons pocket, when he was suddenly attacked and knocked down, and the boy silenced by one or more blows of a club. One of the prisoners, Felch, came to Mr. Wyman's assistance before the assailants could find the key or accomplish their purpose. Both father and son had some bad cuts and bruises, but nothing of a dangerous character. Mr. Wyman had been too indulgent, it being cold weather, in allowing them to go into the area, that they might be warm by a stove.

20. A master of a northern ship was fined $3,000 at New Orleans, for attempting to pass off as free negroes, three slaves. His excuse was, that he wanted to keep them out of jail.

The Manhattan Bank has been defrauded of $6,500, by means of forged checks, drawn in the name of S. Draper & Co. The rogue was one Morrell, who was arrested.

The Court of Inquiry in regard to the mutiny on board the U. S.

brig Somers, came to a decision on Thursday night, and forwarded it to Washington.

Cars were run over the Tonawanda Rail-road on Tuesday, for the first time, thus completing the link of iron chain from Boston to Buffalo.

The house and barn of Capt. O. Robinson, Thomaston, Me., was burnt in consequence of placing ashes in a wooden vessel, in the barn. The family came near perishing.

21. Holt's Hotel, corner of Pearl, Fulton, and Water streets, was sold in New York, under a foreclosure of a mortgage, for $100,000. It cost over $200,000, and was mortgaged to the Life and Trust Company for $140,000, by two men, one of whom bought the estate.

23. Governor King, of Rhode Island, by proclamation, announced that a new constitution has been submitted to the people for their ratification and adoption, and was by them accepted.

The Directors of the Farmer's Bank, Amherst, N. H., have been compelled, by the destructive policy of the State Government, to close up their business on Monday, and commit to the flames $30,000, in good bank bills.

24. Ship Scotland, of and from New York, put back a few days since, having shipped a sea, 12 days out, that swept the decks of the hawse, booby-hatch, boat-house, bulwarks fore and aft, and washed overboard Captain Robinson, the master, second mate, steward, a boy, and two men; who were all lost.

25. Mr. Absalom Delaughter, a planter, near Edgefield, S. C., was killed by an accidental discharge of his own gun, occasioned by the cock being touched by a dog playing round him.

Excess of specie over actual circulation, in the Banks of New York, 131 in number, is $6,196,888.

Mr. Thompson, warden of the Eastern Penitentiary, was importuned by a well-dressed Englishman, Robert Graham, to be admitted to prison. Having read Miss Martineau's work on America, he had come to this country on purpose to realize the condition of solitary confinement.

23. Captain Jos. Owens, residing a few miles from Annapolis, Maryland, shot his son, who died immediately. This shocking deed was occasioned by ill-feeling, produced by a lawsuit. The father was promptly arrested.

Two boys, shot on a wood-wharf by a brute in New York, who drove off four children by firing a gun at them. The perpetrator has not been arrested.

A ponderous bomb, of 150 lbs. weight, was recently found in Back Cove Flats, near Portland, presumed to have been thrown by Mowatt's fleet, during the bombardment of Portland, in 1775. But Portland has no claim to such revolutionary distinction. An iron-foundry near by claim it as theirs: probably it was floated off on a cake of ice.

Mr. Osborne was robbed, in New Orleans, of between 6 and $700 in specie, by a young man, who pretended to be suddenly taken sick, and was carried to Mr. Osborne's house. He then broke open three or four trunks, and made off. The police overhauled him the same evening.

A woman, in passing through Pell-street, N. York, was dragged into a slaughter-house, and most horribly abused, by an unknown ruffian.

Charles Miller, of Sing Sing, N. Y., endeavored to abduct his own wife. They have disagreed, and lived apart. There is a long story about the transaction, which does not redound to the reputation of the husband, or the good judgment of the lady.

FEBRUARY.

2. Miss West, of Cabotville, Mass., a child, came home crying, the day after Thanksgiving, saying she had swallowed a pin. The cough has continued exceedingly severe ever since. Several physicians concluded the cough was induced by a disease of the throat. In December, two years after the complaint was noticed, in a violent fit of coughing, she raised a brass pin, considerably corroded. She was at once restored.

Henry Gorman, of Chester co., Penn., died from glanders, contracted by bleeding a horse having that disease. He happened to have a cut finger, through which the poison was unfortunately absorbed.

Noah Sinclair, aged about 30, of Meredith, N. H., attended a Miller meeting at Bickford's Mills, and became excited, then a confirmed lunatic, and finally died, a raving maniac.

Miss Eliza Morrison, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was so badly burned by her clothes taking fire, from coming in contact with a stove, that she died the day following.

4. The brig Ganza, of Boston, Soule, master, from Mobile, put into Havana, the crew having refused to do duty, and plotted to murder the captain and mate, and take the vessel to the Isle of Pines. Three of them were in irons, and will be sent home for trial.

The decision of the Court of Inquiry in regard to the mutiny on board the U. S. brig Somers, is known. The Court is of opinion, that there was a mutiny, to murder the officers and take possession of the brig.

The sword of General Washington, actually used by him during the Revolution, was presented to Congress, by a member of the Virginia delegation.

7. In Walpole, a child 4 years old, died in consequence of inhaling steam from the nose of a tea-kettle, standing upon a cooking-stove.

A female was taken out of the Harlem Rail-road cars in such a state of raving madness, that several persons were required to hold her. It was produced by the influence of Millerism.

A man called Captain —, whose name was wholly unknown, after having been in the Ipswich almshouse about 20 years, insane, has recently been identified by his friends, who had supposed him dead.

A letter from Port au Prince, states that 500 houses were burned, and property to the amount of $8,000,000, by the late fire. In two and a half hours, 12 squares were reduced to ashes.

General Talmadge, an heir of the late Governor Clinton, exhibited the silver bullet, with a letter contained in it, for which a spy, from whom it was purged with medicine, was hung at Æsopus, in the Revolution. He exhibited it to the Historical Society of N. York.

9. A gold medal, in the form of a star, encircled by a beautiful chased rim, was presented at the Apollo Hall, in Washington, by the Firemen's Total Abstinence Society, to George N. Briggs, of Massachusetts, as evidence of their esteem, for his efforts in the temperance cause.

10. Hutchinson Heberton, a young man, who had seduced a young woman, Miss Mercer, of Philadelphia, was watched by her brother, and having ascertained that he was to leave the city on Friday evening, in a carriage, by way of Camden, he concealed himself on board the ferry-boat. The carriage came, with the object of his revenge in it; and when within a few yards of the Jersey shore, Mercer approached and fired four balls, in quick succession, from one of Colt's six-barrelled pistols. One ball proved fatal. Taken to a tavern, he expired immediately. Mercer gave himself up to the authorities.

14. The body of Wm. Stevens was found in a pasture, in Raymond, N. H. It was supposed he died from intoxication. A jug, partly full of rum, was found at his side.

15. The amount of mortgaged property in New York, is supposed to be two thirds of all the real estate in the city.

Commodore Isaac Hull died in Philadelphia, after an illness of several days' duration.

17. Wm. Redfield, was held to bail before the Mayor of Philadelphia, in the sum of $1,000, for assaulting and beating his father. He is only about 19 years old.

That noted female counterfeiter, Honora Shephard, whose whole life has been one of crime, was tried last term in New York, for forgery in the second degree, but escaping previous to sentence, has been recaptured, and sentenced for 8 years to the state prison.

James O. P. Orrok, formerly of the firm of Orrok & Simmons, was found dead, by hanging from a cord attached to his own door, in Roxbury, Ms. He attempted to destroy himself on Monday. He left a letter for his wife, detailing the cause.

A sand slide took place at Troy, N. Y., from the hill, situated on the southwest part of the city, called Mount Ida, elevated about 70 feet above the bed of the Hudson. The hill gave way, crushing 8 or 10 houses, and burying them in a mass of earth. It is supposed, that from 30 to 40 persons were in them, only 12 of whom had been extricated. A woman, hearing the noise, went out at the door to ascertain the cause, which she no sooner ascertained, than, running back for her child, both were buried alive.

Commodore Hull was interred in a vault in Christ's Church, Philadelphia, to be removed hereafter to Laurel Hill. He was buried in blue pantaloons, buff undress, military vest and undress, military coat, with wrapper and a blue cloth cloak, stockings, and slippers. Stores, and places in the city by which the funeral passed, in general, were closed, and the flags of the shipping displayed at half-mast.

A dreadful hurricane occurred, on the 13th of January, which swept over England, Ireland, and Scotland, and the neighboring coast of France, doing immense damage, and destroying, probably, very many lives. Rising of six trading vessels are known to have been lost.

19. Messrs. Fletcher and Grover were killed in Quincy, by the unexpected explosion of a charge, in a rock, at the bottom of a well they were engaged in digging.

A memorial reached New York, for Congress, having 50,000 signers, headed by the slave Latimer, asking that body to take some new measures in regard to the institution of slavery. Mr. J. Q. Adams was to present it.

22. Wm. Taylor, of Toronto, wishing to split a log, bored a hole into it, filled it with powder, and then plugged it tight. He then primed it through the plug, and thoughtlessly stooping down, applied a match. Instead of splitting the log, the plug was sent out with such violence as to enter the brain through the cheek bone, which caused his death.

It was resolved, at a whig meeting of the members of Congress, to recommend holding a Whig National Convention for nominating a Whig candidate for the Presidency, in May, 1844.

23. The accommodation train from Worcester for Norwich, Ct. came in contact with a snow-plough, propelled by locomotive engines, at a curve in the road, near Pomfret. One of the engineers, Holt, had both arms broken, and a brakeman, Cheney, had both legs broken. The first had one arm amputated. All the engines and tenders were smashed to pieces.

Another slide took place at Troy, a few rods south of the first, on Friday last. It carried off a wood-shed. No other damage.

24. The wife of J. S. Leverich, of Newark, N. J., having been unwell several days, exhibited signs of mental alienation. After her husband had left, yesterday, for his work, she put a parcel of arsenic in a cup of coffee, and told her daughter, 12 years old, that it was magnesia, for the two younger children. Going into another room, she divided the fatal dose between the two and herself. It was soon ascertained that she had administered poison, but it was too late to prevent its dreadful effects, and all three died within a few hours. Before death, the mother recovered her senses, and deeply deplored the dreadful course she had pursued.

25. A man, whose name is Kimball, residing at Marblehead, a carpenter, recently from Haverhill, has not lived with his wife for several years, on account of his bad treatment of her. Calling at her father's on Sunday afternoon, he was ordered away, upon which he drew a pistol, and discharged a bullet in her body. It entered the left breast, passed through the chest, and probably lodged in the lungs, as she expectorates blood. He was committed to Salem jail.

A young man, son of Chester White, of Batavia, N. Y., undertook to poison his parents and the whole family, by mixing arsenic with flour. He has confessed his intentions.

Lewis Chandler, of Schuylerville, N. Y., had his hand caught by a belt in a cotton factory, which carried him over the drum, with prodigious velocity, and dashed him against the ceiling with such terrible force as to kill him instantly.

28. Mr. Sprigg, of Kentucky, a member of Congress, signalized himself at Washington, by getting into a fracas and fight with a miller's cart-driver, which terminated in his opponent's biting off a large part of an ear. He is a disgrace to his constituents, and to the dignified body to which he was elected.

MARCH.

1. Lucy Talbot, of Milton, came to her death, so say a coroner's jury, by intoxication and exposure to cold, while in company with one John Bowman. He took her to a sleigh-ride, and called at a distil-house in Roxbury, and afterwards gave her three glasses of brandy, and drank pretty freely himself. Finding she could not speak, in returning home, he drove to a doctor's, but she was dead. Bowman is a married man.

3. A great crowd was attracted in Rochester, N. Y., to see a bag, containing some living thing, on a piece of ice, near Andrews' bridge. Various plans were proposed for rescuing the supposed child, which was reached by one of the city hooks. Although handled with the utmost caution, to prevent injury or accident in hauling the bag ashore, and at the instant when the multitude were in the highest feeling of sympathy and expectation, the bag was rent — and outsprang a large black cat!

4. Two sons of Edward Godfrey, West Point, N. Y., went to skate on the Hudson; one had the misfortune to break through, sunk, but rose. The other cried out, 'don't be afraid; I'll get you out.' He took off his coat, laid down and swung out the sleeve for his brother to reach, and thus dragged him out.

6. Mary Conrad obtained of Joshua B. Williams, at Canandaigua, $8,000 for breach of promise of marriage.

News came that the bill to repeal the Bankrupt Law received the approval of the President, March 3d.

At New Orleans, the wardens of the church of St. Francis became dissatisfied with their pastor, and gave him notice to quit, and that they would not pay him after a certain time. He refused to leave, and the bishop declined withdrawing him until his demand was paid. The Supreme Court of Louisiana decided that the wardens were, under the charter, the legal owners of the church property; that they were responsible to the congregation only, and not to the pope, or his bishops, who have no authority in that State.

7. Intelligence has been received of the dreadful destruction of Point Petre, Guadaloupe, with loss of several thousand lives, by an earthquake.

There was a destructive fire at Cincinnati, which broke out in the smoke-house of Messrs. Pugh & Alvord, corner of Walnut street. A pork-house was closed, near by, by shutting all the windows and doors. In the course of half an hour, being filled with smoke and rarefied air, and probably some inflammable gas, there was a roar of flame, as it rushed through, and an explosion, that instantly destroyed the whole edifice. Several persons were killed by this extraordinary and unlooked-for calamity.

Eleven insane persons have been committed to the Hospital in Worcester, Mass., deranged by attendance on Millerism lectures.

A beautiful comet has been discovered in the heavens by the astronomers of Yale College, which is beginning to excite the curiosity of the learned.

9. The dwelling-house of Richard McDowell, of South Brunswick, N. J., was destroyed by fire, and, dreadful to relate, his only son, 14 years of age, perished in the flames. It is supposed to have been caused by a defect in a stove-pipe.

12. The Great Western, steamer, arrived at New York, bringing 1,000 packages of goods, and $750,000 in specie. Her engines have been running just 20 days, without stopping a single instant, and she has steamed a distance of 4,700 miles, with a consumption of 650 tons of coal. She had a three days' stock of coal still left, when she arrived.

13. George Florida, a blacksmith, hung himself at Springfield, Mass., with an iron chain. He was found dead in the morning, with a Bible by his side, and a dagger in his pocket. He was considered a victim to Millerism.

15. A severe storm at Salem, Mass. The schr. Thomas, of Bristol, from Belfast for Boston, laden with wood, went ashore at four o'clock in the morning, on Long Beach, Nahant, and five men were lost. Had they remained a few minutes longer, as the life-boat was on the way for their relief, perhaps all might have been saved.

16. It is ascertained that the Concord was wrecked last August, at Cape Delgado, near the river Lindy, on the coast of Africa. The captain, purser, and one seaman, were lost in attempting to land, by the swamping of a boat.

Judge Betts, of the U. S. District Court, New York, has decided, in relation to the brig Somers, that the grand jury has no authority to inquire into the homicide charged to have been committed on board that vessel.

21. Amasa Stetson, of Dorchester, Mass., has presented to a neighboring town, Randolph, of which he is a native, a beautiful building, 87 by 50 feet, which cost $10,000. He has also made the town a present of $1,000, Massachusetts State scrip, the income of which is to be devoted to the support of an English High School.

Mr. Waggaman, of the Senate of Louisiana, and Dennis Prieur, late Mayor of N. Orleans, fought a duel on the 10th instant. Mr. Waggaman was shot in the thigh. Both parties were satisfied.

James Houston was killed on the rail-road near Saco, Me., on Friday last. He had been clearing the snow from the track, and in attempting to get up on the train as it was passing, he fell, and the rear car passed over him, cutting off both legs close to his body. Another man was badly wounded at the same time.

The ship General Wilson, which sailed from New London, December, 1840, on a whaling voyage to New Zealand, made land off Block Island on Thursday, and passed Montauk Point in the evening. A strong northeast snow-storm soon set in, and the ship came to anchor near the mouth of the Connecticut river. At the dawn of day, the captain, Ezra Bailey, with 7 men, left in a boat, to land at Saybrook, but, on crossing the bar, the boat was capsized. The crew regained the boat, but were again and again washed off, and only one man, of the whole, survived the sad catastrophe. His name is William L. Kimball, of New Hampshire.

A dreadful murder was perpetrated in New York, by some unknown person, upon Charles G. Corlies. He was shot in the street, near the Carlton House, by a female, it is supposed, with whom he was seen conversing a moment before. No clue to the foul deed has ever been developed.

Alfred Moore, of Warwick, Me. accidentally killed on the 6th, by a discharge of his rifle. He went into a chamber where he kept it, in the morning, and it is supposed loaded it for the purpose of firing at a mark. By some unaccountable means it was discharged, the charge entered his head, and he was killed, though no one knew it till late in the afternoon, when he was discovered on the bed. He was only 20 years of age.

23. Thirteen members of the late Congress died; seven lost their wives during the session; nine have married, since their election; twelve or more have lost their children. Seven Senators and twelve Representatives have resigned. Of the twelve resigned, three of them have been re-elected to the same places again. One had a leg broken, and one an ear bitten off.

In Machias, Me., Jane Inglee had her clothes set on fire by going too near a red-hot stove, and, before the fire could be overcome, she was so badly burnt, that she died.

A little daughter of Ch. Ribbed, Reading, Penn., was burned to death by her clothes taking fire, during a temporary absence of her mother.

25. A disastrous fire broke out at the corner of Green and Beaver streets, Albany, in a building used for the manufacture of camphene oil. Mrs. Coughry, a widow, who occupied apartments, after saving a few articles, found it necessary to retreat, with her children. She got out two, and returned for a third, in the third story, where her clothes took fire. In her agony, she jumped, all on fire, from the third story. Although dangerously burnt, no limbs were broken. Ch. Pohlman, an efficient fireman, was instantly enveloped in flame and smoke, in the third story, by a camphene explosion, which obliged him also to jump for life, by which he fractured one leg, and severely injured the other.

27. Mrs. Sarah Rock, 25 years old, was viewed by the coroner, together with her son, Benj. F. Simmons, Jr., 5 years of age. She lived with Benj. F. Simmons, as his wife, 6 years, though never married, and had three children by him, this boy being the oldest. For some time past she had drank freely, and in that condition was quarrelsome, and he had threatened to leave her. She purchased two phials of laudanum, and took a quantity herself, and gave some to all her children, in tea. The youngest child was saved by vomiting, but attempts to rouse her and the boy were ineffectual, and both died.

A man named Stewart, at Cyprus Bend, Arkansas, being robbed by a negro, but as he supposed, by a wood-chopper, swore that his dogs should eat the first wood-chopper that ventured upon his grounds. Soon after, one called for lodging, which Stewart granted, and bolting the doors, let in upon him a number of young dogs, which, however, he kept at bay. Stewart then turned in a parcel of old ones, which being also foiled, he took a gun and shot the man, leaving his body for the brutes. A reward of $1,000 was immediately offered for his apprehension.

28. The old True American Tavern, on Mill Hill, N. J., was burned, while the inmates were asleep. Two men were burned to a crisp. A poor woman, in a delicate situation, shrieked in vain from a third story window, the stairway being filled by smoke and fire; and no ladder being found, she jumped, but was severely injured. A little girl, 9 years old, promised to follow, but did not, and was burned to death. A severe storm retarded the engine. This house was the head-quarters of General Washington, January 3, 1777, it being the very spot where the council decided upon the fate of Princeton.

A partially deranged young man, named Tower, in Troy, jumped into an empty lumber sleigh, belonging to a brewery in Albany, and applying the whip to a powerful pair of horses, dashed off at full speed. Although the road was lined with sleighs, they all gave him the road, so that no one was injured. When he had reached Port Schuyler, he stopped, where, the owner coming up, knocked him down, sans ceremony, and got possession of his property again.

29. Singleton Mercer's trial for shooting Heberton, the seducer of his sister, commenced in New Jersey.

Melzar Gardner, editor of the Portsmouth Chronicle and Old Dominion, Virginia, met Mordecai Cook, Jr., on a wharf, where they conversed a moment, when Cook was seen to raise his cane; but before any hostile movement could be made with it, Gardner drew a pistol, which Cook seized, and in the squabble, it went off, sending the whole charge through Gardner's body, who was a corpse in less than fifteen minutes.

The whole family of Mr. Morehead, residing near the Yazoo Pass, Miss., were poisoned by eating peaches dried on a painted board. One of the daughters was to have been married on the very day of her death; the dresses having been sent home as the funeral bier and shroud were preparing. The scene was truly painful.

31. Passed Assistant Surgeon Rich. W. Leacock, surgeon of the unlucky U. S. brig Somers, at the New York Navy Yard, committed suicide, by shooting himself over the right eye. He was 28 years old, and belonged to Norfolk, Va. John Carroll committed suicide much in the same manner, on board the brig Boxer, lying nearly in the same place, March 31, 1842, exactly one year before.

Mr. Waggaman, lately wounded in a duel at New Orleans, died on the 24th, aged 50. He was a State Senator.

APRIL.

1. At Schenectady, N. Y., there was a tremendous fire, which destroyed the rail-way depot and Given's hotel. Eleven cars were burned; one 48-passenger car, of elegant construction, valued at $2,500. The depot was of wood, between 3 and 400 feet long, and cost, including land, $40,000. There was considerable insurance. The disaster is wholly imputed to an incendiary.

The Merchants' Exchange, New York, a magnificent edifice, of which Rogers was architect, is advertised at a sheriff's sale, its debts being more than $800,000.

Robert McGaukey was murdered by a plantation overseer, named Mitchell, at Bayou Bœuf, for his money. The wretch obtained $1,700 in cash by the foul deed, and $700 in a draft on N. Orleans. The body was covered over with bark. He went to New Orleans, collected the money, dissipated several days, and finally escaped the police.

Baldwin Rowland, in Putnam Co., Tenn., while in a state of maddening intoxication, assailed a poor woman, Delia Raney, with an axe, and, with a single blow, severed her head from her body. He was finally arrested.

4. One Henry Wright, belonging to Northfield, Mass., came home drunk, and laid down on the bed with a young child, 4 or 5 years of age. This alarmed the mother, who attempted to draw her boy away, but in vain. The child called one Moody, in the kitchen, to aid him; Wright sprang up and got a knife, and when Moody came, plunged it into his side. The drunkard was carried off to jail.

John Barber, Jr. of Heath, Mass. 46 years old, started on Wednesday to go to work in Colerain, but the weather being stormy, he lost his way. On Saturday he was found in a school-house, in the woods, by his son, in a senseless state, laying on his back; his feet and ankles were frozen solid. He was speedily moved to a comfortable ble place, but expired in about 40 hours. He was strictly temperate.

Whole number of votes for governor in Rhode Island, 16,533; of which Fenner has 9,140, Carpenter 7,393; and consequently the first named has a majority of 1,747.

Munroe Edwards, the king of rascals, recently attempted an escape, at Sing Sing, by concealing himself in a large box, in the shop where he works. He was well supplied with provisions for three days, besides brandy!

Singleton Mercer, the man who killed Heberton, of Philadelphia, for the seduction of his sister, was acquitted by the jury.

Jacob Shipman, a favorite public carrier of money and all other valuable property, about whom there has been considerable mystery, has absconded, with a large sum of money. For 12 years he has been regarded as a remarkably honest man in Philadelphia.

12. Word comes, that the decision of the court-martial on Lieut. McKenzie, is as follows, viz.: The Court do honorably acquit Commander A. S. McKenzie, &c. &c.

A family of emigrants, 11 in all, while crossing an extensive prairie, in the western part of Illinois, on their way to Iowa, were all frozen to death in a wagon. The horses stopped at a house, when the inmates, observing no one get out, looked in and made this awful discovery. The mother was sitting up with the reins in her hands, as though driving, and hence it is presumed, that she was the last to expire.

A great fracas occurred in the legislature of Pennsylvania, between a Mr. McGowan and Mr. Bratton, disgraceful in the extreme. A knife was drawn, and the members rushed from their seats down before the Speaker's chair. A constable was brought in, and Mr. McGowan finally gave himself up to answer charges. He should have been expelled the House immediately, and sent to the House of Correction, for the insult upon the dignity of the State.

13. At Hagerstown, Md., a suit has been instituted for the recovery of 75 cents, on account of candles, fire-wood, &c., used by the defendant, in courting a girl in the plaintiff's family! The suit was decided in favor of the latter.

4. Jacob Carr, a revolutionary soldier, 110 years old, was baptized in Delaware recently.

Caroline Kane, in New York, was engaged with another female in filling a lamp with spirit gas, when both the lamp and the can from which they were taking it exploded, a candle being held too near, and both were frightfully burned. Being taken to the Hospital, she died. This is the 47th death by Camphene oil.

Constantine L. Omelveny, of Waterloo, Illinois, started on a gunning excursion, and previous to loading his gun, unconscious of its being already loaded, placed his foot upon the lock to raise it, and his mouth to the muzzle to blow; his foot slipped, and discharged the gun into his mouth, killing him instantly.

DeWitt Clinton Baker was stabbed in New York, near Park place, in the evening, by a girl of the town, with whom he was walking. She and her companion, Bill Wallace, were arrested. Her name is Fallensby. She has a sister in Sing Sing.

5. Mrs. Elizabeth House died at Wheeling, Penn. at the great age of 110 years, lacking a few months.

A horse in a wagon became unmanageable near Weiss' bridge, at the junction of the Rail-road with Broad street, Philadelphia, where the embankment is 15 feet high, and backed over as the Norristown cars were passing at full speed. They crushed the wagon to atoms, without injuring the horse or the boy who drove him.

6. John Stevens, on his way to West Cambridge, from Boston, where he had been to sell pickerel, when near the pine woods was stopped by three ruffians, one of whom presented a pistol, and commanded him on his peril, to make no noise. He then struck him with the breech of the pistol; but the noise of a coming wagon surprised the villains, who made off.

8. A whirlwind passed over the Rail-road track, about two miles from Taunton, Mass., and cleared every thing in its course. In Raynham, a house was prostrated, and also a new barn in Taunton.

different captains during the voyage. This was occasioned by sickness and deaths.

John McGeel, of Port Huron, bored for a well, till, reaching the depth of 115 feet, he suddenly heard a hissing sound. He took up the auger, and a vast and rushing volume of inflammable gas still rushes up.

Two packages of $17,000, in bills of the Millbury bank, Mass. were sent to the Suffolk bank. It was soon ascertained that one package was nothing but blank paper, substituted for the bills. The robbery was ingeniously managed, and is still involved in mystery.

Hon. Benjamin Pickman, of Salem, Mass., died. He was a man of high reputation, and universally lamented by those who knew his real worth of character.

15. Jane Hall, aged 88, whose husband was a partner of Benjamin Franklin, in the printing business, died at Salem, N. J.

In the case of Wyman and Brown, who were tried at Concord, for embezzling the funds of the Phoenix Bank, Charlestown, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, as to Brown, and disagreed as to Wyman.

17. Mr. Hueston, lately wounded in a duel, near New Orleans, was editor of the Eaton Rouge Gazette. He died within a few hours after receiving a ball into his body.

John H. W. Hawkins says he was never insulted but once, while lecturing on temperance, and that was at Portsmouth, N. H.

Harrison Bumpus, Martin Bumpus, and Moses Bumpus, three brothers, of Wareham, were found guilty of larceny, chiefly on the testimony of Charles Bumpus, another brother, who turned State's evidence, and thus saved himself. Harrison was sent to the State Prison for three years, and the two others for one year each in the same place, and three months in the House of Correction.

Joseph Wyman, in New York, ruined a domestic in his house, named Crawford. Her brother, hearing of the affair, found her and her child, and then went in search of the rascal, Wyman. He called, and when Mrs. W. left the room, he drew a dirk, and struck Wyman in the breast, but it struck a rib, so that his life was spared. He then ran, but was taken, and examined before a magistrate.

20. Robert Twigg, of Baltimore, skinned a cow, which had probably died from the effects of poison. He had a slight sore on one finger, and the same day the arm and hand became badly inflamed, accompanied with excessive pain. After a short time he died in great suffering.

23. A Mr. Leavitt was shot by mistake, in Maine, near Mattawamkeag stream. He was supposed to be a bear. Two balls entered the abdomen, and produced death in about two hours.

Two men, at a military encampment, Hanover, Penn., undertook to fire a cannon ten times in a minute, which burst, shockingly mutilating them both.

A child of Jesse Everett, in Cazenovia, Ill., was poisoned by chewing percussion caps. It died in a few hours.

24. Jonathan Gamage, of Fryeburg, Me., who fought at the battle of Bunker Hill, died at the age of 90. He was present at the late celebration, June 17th.

25. Dr. McClenahan, for a violent assault upon the Rev. Mr. Aaron, at Norristown, Penn., was sentenced, and his brother also, to a fine of $30 and 30 days' imprisonment each.

Eliza Hill, a young girl of 16, fell from the third story of a house in Philadelphia. She was attracted by the singing of a hymn at a religious meeting, and leaning out of the window to hear, a slate across the window suddenly gave way, and she was dashed to the pavement. She died almost instantly.

27. Thomas Shelby, aged 53, who was suffering from a cancer in the tongue, in New York, took laudanum in large doses to alleviate the pain. On Friday night, he took six tea-spoons full, which terminated in death.

28. John Foster, of Danvers, was bitten by a rattle-snake in the finger; but the bite did not prove fatal. The snake had nine rattles.

Four brothers, named Learned, were arrested in Millbury, and placed under $40,000 bonds each, suspected of having robbed the Millbury bank.

SEPTEMBER.

1. John Austin, in New Haven, undertook to dry some powder, 6 pounds, which he put in a patent oven, over the fire, as though he were baking a loaf of bread! As might have been expected, it blew up, and came near killing him.

A man in charge, at Fort Kent, Fish river, Maine, was lowering down the flag, but the ropes becoming entangled, he stepped back a few paces and stumbled. At that moment a cannon was fired, which hung fire, and took his head off.

A dreadful accident occurred on the Susquehannah Rail-road. When about 8 miles from York, the front axletree broke, throwing that car and two more, loaded with people, off the track. A vast number had their limbs broken, and were otherwise shockingly bruised and injured.

A woman was dreadfully burned at St. Louis, Mo., by the explosion of a Camphene lamp, which she was attempting to fill, while the wick was still burning.

13. A sprinkling of snow, with rain, fell in Philadelphia.

The body of a man who had probably been dead some weeks, floated ashore at Seconnet river, Little Compton, R. I., which was supposed to have been that of John Johnson, cook of the schr. Lavinia, on board of which there was a desperate murder, heretofore noticed.

A Mr. Tirrell was sitting on the banks of an inlet, engaged in fishing. The top of his cap was seen by a boy, which he mistook for a muskrat, and discharged his gun at it. The shot lodged in his cheek, forehead, arm, and leg, wounding him severely.

A child of Capt. Bunker, Falmouth, Mass., nearly three years old, died in that town, by taking poison, mixed for flies, in molasses.

A stranger from Canada, attracted by the rich display of goods in the store of G. & J. W. Bell, N. Y., not observing the door of rich plate glass, walked right through it. On learning that the damage was $50, he represented himself to be a poor man, unable to make good the amount, but offered $5 and his overcoat, as part payment. The money was taken, but the coat declined. The neighbors subscribed $17.

In Wells, Maine, the steamboat train of the Eastern Rail-road, ran off the track, and the tender fell on Horace A. Adams, the engineer, and instantly killed him. The rail appeared to have been displaced by some fiend, for no other purpose than because a large party had been invited by the proprietors to pass over the road that day. The rails were torn up, and sleepers broken, for two or three rods.

15. Dennis Dempsey, a child three years old, in New York, found on the mantel-piece while playing with other children, a bottle containing vitriol, of which a small quantity was swallowed; producing great suffering, and finally death, in extreme agony.

17. A family in Philadelphia partook of soup for dinner, and shortly after, they were all taken sick. The symptoms were pain in the stomach. The physician in attendance discovered that the soup contained numerous worms, known as parsley worms, of a poisonous character.

In Barre, Mass., a child of Dea. Moses Wheelock, was left quietly on the bed by an attendant; but on returning, a few minutes after, it was dead. Having slid off between the bed and the wall, the space not allowing the head to pass, it was held by the chin till dead.

19. A bold and daring murder was committed in Rochester, N. H. Phebe Hanson was shot dead, in her own house, at noon day. She was a maiden lady, residing with an unmarried brother. Mr. Page, near by, heard a gun, and thinking it a little strange, the sound coming from that particular house, went immediately there. Before arriving, he saw three men advancing towards the house with guns. When he arrived, they were in the kitchen, seated. On inquiring for Miss Hanson, they told him she was in the front entry, asleep. On looking there, she was bleeding profusely, and dead. The men expressed some surprise, and left immediately. An alarm being given, two of them, brothers, by the name of Howard, were arrested. The object was plunder. One of them has since confessed the crime.

22. Some wicked, atrociously wicked, person or persons, in Somersworth, N. H., placed a keg of powder, which exploded at the door sill of Mr. J. B. Wood's house, in the night, within six feet of his bed-room, where himself, wife, and babe were asleep, and almost under two little boys. This diabolical act was supposed to have been in revenge for the decided course of Mr. Wood in banishing intoxicating liquors from the village. A merciful Providence saved the whole family from harm. The windows, furniture, &c., were dashed in pieces, and presented a frightful spectacle.

By way of New Orleans, intelligence has been received of the complete re-establishment of legitimate authority in the Sandwich Islands, on the 25th of July, in the person of King Kamehameha III., who was unjustly deprived of his birthright by Lord Paulet, a few months before.

Peter G. Chandler was tried at St. Louis for throwing an engineer overboard from a steamboat, and found guilty of murder in the second degree, for which he was sentenced to 50 years imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

28. An unfortunate loss of four valuable lives occurred at Chaudiere, Lower Canada, at the bottom of a foul well. The first man was suffocated by the nephritic air, and in an attempt to rescue him the second, and finally two more, making four in all, were deprived of life. No one should ever presume to descend into a well or deep cistern, without first ascertaining that a light will burn freely at the bottom, a point readily determined by letting it down by a cord.

A little girl, living at Mr. Hill's, in Epping, N. H., was so barbarously beaten, that she died the following day. An arm and her skull were both broken. She was only twelve years old, having been taken by Hill from the almshouse in Newmarket. The wretch is under arrest.

Mrs. Bacon, wife of Mr. Eben. Pacon, of Middletown, Conn., was barbarously murdered on Sunday morning, by some unknown person. She was alone, the family being at church. When the husband returned, he found Mrs. Bacon on her back, in the centre of the room, with her head crushed in, the face shockingly mutilated, and throat cut, besides seven stabs in her breast. By her side was a butcher knife, some keys and chairs, two being bloody and broken, showing they were probably used in self-defence. It is supposed that the authors of the awful deed attempted to rob the house, and being resisted by her, murdered her instantly. Only $75 were taken. No clue to the murderers.

30. A daring murder was perpetrated in Baltimore on Thursday evening, about 8 o'clock, in the street. Miss Ann M. Burke, aged about 20, received a fatal blow on the back of the head, apparently with a bludgeon, which not only dreadfully fractured the skull, but drove the bone into the brain. It has been thought that she was mistaken for some other person. Although a reward of $500 was immediately offered, no discovery has yet been made of the wretch who committed the act.

On the last day of the session of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, at Rochester, N. Y., a clergyman, by mistake, in a barber's shop, put on the wrong coat, which was inadvertently taken instead of his own, and hurried to breakfast. The owner in the mean while discovered the mistake, and hot pursuit was made by the barber and his aids, for the man with the wrong coat, whom they found, comfortably over his coffee. He was equally astonished at the object of their visit, and greatly surprised on being informed that he had carried off $5,000 in one of the pockets. The garments were almost precisely alike, and fitted each other admirably.

An unsuccessful attempt was made at Newburyport, to steal a bone of the celebrated Whitfield, from the coffin, in a tomb under the pulpit of the Federal street Church. One of the arm bones was stolen many years ago, and is now preserved with great care, in England.

OCTOBER.

4. A powder mill at High Falls, 7 miles west from Catskill, blew up on Wednesday, about 5 P. M., and 6 persons connected with the establishment, who were inside, were blown to atoms. The foreman being indisposed, it is conjectured, that the explosion occurred in consequence of the intoxication of the person in charge of the drying and packing-house. About 300 kegs of powder are supposed to have been exploded, which was taken by many for an earthquake.

An account is given in the Brockport Sentinel of a Mrs. Johnson, who died in that place of hydrophobia, produced by the bite of a cat, in May last. The animal was following her, and on noticing it, she gave it a kick. The cat fastened on the foot instantly, and gave two severe bites, lacerating the skin near the toes. Although the wound healed readily, late in September darting pains began to be felt, which in one week ended in her death, under circumstances of awful sufferings.

10. The Pavilion, a large and well known hotel, at Saratoga, was destroyed by fire. Insured for only $15,000.

13. Col. James Henly, of Portland, Me., was found in his shop near the rail-road depot, senseless and bleeding. He appeared to have been struck with an axe, which cut off part of the right ear. His son was with him but a few minutes before, and left him at the counter counting money, which in all was $20, which was carried away. He has since died; but no method yet devised, has been successful in ferreting out the murderer.

In transferring baggage from a cart to a steamboat, a double-barrel gun in the luggage exploded, by falling, and sent a charge thro' a lady's dress. Although the garment was ruined, it was miraculous that the lady escaped uninjured.

It has been ascertained pretty satisfactorily, that the conflagration of the steamer Missouri was caused by the breaking of a glass vessel, containing spirits of turpentine.

A young lady at the Court of Common Pleas, at Cattaraugus, N. Y., recovered $500 of John P. Oyer, for slanderous words spoken by his wife.

17. On Tuesday last, there was a heavy snow-storm at Buffalo. At Pomeroy, N. Y., the ears were delayed 12 hours by the storm. It was two feet deep, and proved injurious to the fruit trees.

In Cleveland Co., N. C., a negro boy, twelve years old, was bitten on the foot by a rattle-snake, while gathering peas. In 15 minutes he reeled and staggered, lost his vision, and became nauseated. No effort was made to counteract the poison, 'the owner of the poor little fellow being incredulous as to the use of medicine in any disease.' So he died.

19. A drunken man, named Hyde, was killed at West Newton. He persisted in getting up and down on the foot-board of the car, till by-and-by he fell off, and both legs were dreadfully crushed. Amputation was immediately resorted to, but he died before the second limb was removed. He belonged to Newton Corner, a mason by trade.

The boiler of a steam engine used in the rope-walks of Worin-stead & Son, Newburyport, exploded and killed the engineer, Mr. Green. The boiler was itself blown about 200 feet, and fragments of the building were widely scattered.

J. B. Dwight, Esq. a tutor in Yale College, died of a fever, having its rise by a wound inflicted by L. Fassitt, of Philadelphia, a member of the College, who stabbed him with a knife, some weeks before. Fassitt, with others, were amusing themselves at the expense of the Freshmen; and being seized by Mr. Dwight, in performance of his duty, struggled to disengage himself, but not succeeding, he inflicted the wounds which have produced a mournful result. He is to be tried.

23. News has been received, that the steamer Sarah Barnes, in crossing from Galveston to N. Orleans, sprung a leak. The pumps could only keep her free for a short time. When only about 70 miles from Galveston, the water gained so fast, that the Captain decided to run into the Sabine river, the passengers and crew striving to keep the boat clear by bailing. The water gained upon them, and finally put out the fires. They then made rafts of cotton bales, and 30 persons left the vessel, 18 on the rafts, and 12 in a boat. The vessel went down immediately after it was abandoned. Only 5 on the raft were saved, after drifting three days and nights. Thirteen lives were lost.

25. George Young, who has been drunk nearly ever since March, was committed to prison in Philadelphia. He had threatened to saw off his wife's head. After knocking her down and beating her cruelly, he actually put her head in a position for sawing it off, when he was interrupted, in season to save her from the impending danger.

30. Miss Isabel R. Keats, of Louisville, Ky., on Saturday night, after conversing as usual with the family till about 10 o'clock in the evening, retired; but shortly after returned to the parlor, the family having left, to procure something, it is said, for the tooth-ache. Shortly after there was a report of a gun. Persons immediately rushed into the room, and found her weltering in blood. The charge had dreadfully lacerated her neck and breast. She persisted in saying that she did not mean to kill herself, while she lived, which was several hours. How came she to have the gun? This is a point not satisfactorily explained. She was a niece of John Keats, an English poet of some celebrity.

Munroe Edwards, the celebrated forger, now in the Sing Sing State Prison, attempted to fire the establishment in order to escape, a few days since. He is represented to have received a hundred lashes as a punishment. The New York Courier and Enquirer says, that no punishment was inflicted, as Edwards had lately manifested some feeling, on hearing of the want and misery he had brought on his mother.

31. Thomas W. Dorr, celebrated in the modern annals of Rhode Island, was arrested in Providence yesterday, and carried to prison.

John Stannard, Jr., a highly respectable farmer of Westbrook, Conn., was deliberately shot by his son, while at supper. He was insane, and has since been placed in the Asylum, at Hartford.

An attempt was made by Amelia Norman, an abandoned woman, in New York, to assassinate Henry Ballard, in the street, near the Astor House. She is a native of Connecticut. Goaded to revenge by the treatment and desertion she represented she had received from the object of her fury.

Mr. Kimball, of Boston, was nearly suffocated by charcoal gas at a public house in Lowell, which got into the room through a flue of the chimney from another apartment.

NOVEMBER.

1. A sadler, named Doyle, residing near Little Rock, Arkansas, murdered his wife, on the 20th of October, by throwing the contents of a pot of boiling rosin and grease directly on her head. They had a warm dispute, and in a frenzy of rage he committed the awful act. Her screams were heard by a neighbor half a mile off, who arrived just in time to see the poor creature breathe her last. Her face was entirely covered with the burning mixture, which ran down her bosom and back, and produced death in most awful agonies. Although Doyle escaped, he was found next day, 5 miles off, lying dead, with his throat cut from ear to ear, with a bloody jack-knife clasped in his hand. He was a poor man, who had dissipated a small property brought by the unfortunate wife.

Mr. S. L. V. Clevenger, the artist, well known in Boston, died on board the barque Duc d'Orleans, from Leghorn to New York, Sept. 28th, of consumption. He left this city for Italy some years ago.

9. George Cook, aged about 8 years, died on Thursday in New York, in consequence of injuries from brick-bats thrown at him by two playmates the day before.

A New Orleans paper has published a table of the names and residences of all persons who died during the late epidemic yellow fever in that city. From Germany, 227; Ireland, 205; U. States, 128; France, 67; England, 22; Scotland, 12; Italy, 7; Switzerland, 5; Sweden, 4; Spain, 3; Denmark, 3; Nova Scotia, 3; Poland, 2; Prussia, 2; Sicily, 1; Canada, 1; unknown, 132.

15. Col. Trumbull, an illustrious revolutionary soldier, an aid to General Washington, died in New York, at the age of 87. He was distinguished as an artist. He painted four of the great national pictures in the panels of the rotunda, in the capitol, at Washington.

Three sons of Mr. Peter Culbert, Burlington, Vt., aged 12, 10, and 8, were all drowned at once by breaking through the ice of a mill-pond, near their father's house.

Two sisters, in a dispute, at No. 5 Gray's Alley, New York, carried their controversy so far, that one struck the other on the temple with a piece of barrel-heading, so severely, that no hope was entertained of her recovery.

13. Mrs. Moore, indicted for whipping Susan Rice to death, a child only 7 years old, at Hartland, Conn., has been sent to the state prison for two years. The brutal act was inflicted in March last. Suspicions of violence were excited by marks on the corpse, which finally resulted in an inquest, eventuating in Moore's condemnation.

17. The great Copper Rock, so denominated, being in fact a great mass of nearly pure copper, found in the bed of a river near Lake Superior, some years ago, has arrived at Washington. Its weight is not far from three tons. It will be an extraordinary natural curiosity for the inspection of the curions who may visit the seat of government.

21. An English ship went ashore at Gouldsboro', Me., with 22 persons on board, 18 of whom were drowned. All this was in consequence of the officers and crew all being drunk. Those who were saved, preserved themselves by going into the rigging. She was in ballast, bound to St. Johns, N. B.

25. Elizabeth Hubbard, a young woman, who killed her father last summer, in Rush co., Indiana, whilst he was violently beating and choking his wife, was acquitted. The trial occupied several days.

THE STATE LUNATIC HOSPITAL.

Established by authority of the Legislature, and opened for the reception of patients in the beginning of 1833, still continues under the charge of its original efficient Superintendent, Doct. Samuel B. Woodward. Since its opening, as appears from the tenth report of the Trustees, 1557 patients have been admitted, and 1319 discharged, 676 of whom have recovered. Two new wings are soon to be erected, which will render the accommodations of the institution sufficient for about 375 patients. Visitors are admitted on Wednesdays, from 2 to 4 o'clock, P. M. John R. Lee, M. D. is Assistant Physician; Charles P. Hitchcock, Steward; A. D. Foster, Treasurer; Rev. George Allen, Chaplain.

WORCESTER COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

This Society was incorporated in 1818. Each member contributes five dollars on admission, towards the funds of the Society, which are appropriated for the promotion of agriculture. Its exhibition of cattle and manufactures, in October of each year, receives the well merited attention and support of the community, and "Cattle Show" is peculiarly the annual festival of the people of the County.

Levi Lincoln, President. Daniel W. Lincoln, Recording Secretary. Anthony Chase, Treasurer.

THE WORCESTER COUNTY HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY,

Incorporated in 1842, has had several good exhibitions of flowers, fruit, &c., and bids fair to render valuable aid in improving the useful and ornamental branches of husbandry to which its attention is principally directed.

Town settled in 1636. Population in 1840, 11,013. Polls in 1843, 3,136.

The following is a copy from the town records:—

'On the 5th day of October, in the year 1675, a day to be kept in memory by posterity, when the barbarous heathen made an assault on this poor town, killed two men and one woman, wounded several, one of which died soon after, burned down twenty-nine dwelling-houses and barns, destroyed much corn and hay; but God did wonderfully preserve us, or we had been a prey to their teeth. God in his good providence so ordered it, that an Indian squaw, intelligent of the design of the enemy, gave us information, that the Indians would fall on this town, whereby we escaped with our lives, for which we should give God the glory.'

New Bedford is situated on the west side of the Acushnet river, and has a capacious harbor, which is well secured from winds. It is a half shire town of Bristol county, and a port of entry, and was incorporated in 1787, previous to which it formed a part of the town of Dartmouth. It is 52 miles south of Boston, 52 northwest of Nantucket, and 214 northeasterly from New York. The population in 1790 was less than 1,000. In 1820, it was 3,947; in 1840, 12,585. The number of ratable Polls in 1840 was 4,915, of which 3,129 were assessed. In 1843, the number of polls assessed was 3,525. Valuation of property, in May, 1843: Personal, $8,868,230; Real, 5,388,290. Total, $14,256,520.

The whale fishery, and other branches of business connected with it, is almost the entire business of the place. The fleet belonging to New Bedford now engaged in this important branch of American enterprise, consists of 6 brigs, 35 barques, and 180 ships. Her tonnage exceeds that of any other place in the Union, if we except New York, Boston, New Orleans, and Philadelphia.

The number of teachers employed, and the number of children taught, in the several schools, during the year ending June 1, 1843, and the amount of teachers' salaries for the same period, are as follows:—

	Teachers.	Pupils.	Salaries.
Public Schools, . . . . .	42	2,500	$13,297
Private Schools, . . . . .	35	722	5,929
Friends' Academy, . . . . .	4	74	2,200
	<hr/> 81	<hr/> 3,296	<hr/> $21,426

The ground upon which the town is built rises beautifully from the water, and as the town is approached from the water, or from the Fairhaven side, it presents a fine appearance. A wooden bridge and causeway, the whole of which extends about three fourths of a mile, connects the town with the village of Fairhaven. During the revolutionary war New Bedford was a place of resort for American privateers. In order to destroy them, 4,000 British troops, under General Gray, landed upon Clark's Neck, the western boundary of the river, at its mouth. From this point they marched to the town, and burnt houses, wharves, &c. to the amount of £11,241. They also destroyed English and West India goods, provisions, naval stores, shipping, &c. to the amount of £85,739; amounting in the whole to £96,980, or $323,256.

Lynn is 9 miles from Boston, and 5 miles from Salem. It is the oldest town, excepting Salem, in Essex county. Since its settlement, in 1629, many other towns in New England have been settled from it. A vast quantity of ladies' boots and shoes are annually manufactured here. The Eastern Rail-road passes through the southerly part of the town.

NEWSPAPER—Fitchburg Sentinel.

There are in the town 3 Cotton Factories, 3 Woollen Factories, 3 Paper Mills, 2 Scythe Manufactories, 1 Iron Foundry, 2 Machine Shops, 11 Stores, 2 Bookstores, 2 Jewelry Stores, 2 Tin Shops, 1 Hat Store, 2 Merchant Tailors' Shops, and 2 Carriage Manufactories.

Population, 3,000. 14 Public Schools, and 3 Private Schools or Academies, kept the year round.

The Boston and Fitchburg Rail-road terminates in the centre of this town, is about 45 miles in length, and is now being constructed. It has been completed to Waltham, and it is calculated that the whole will be finished in the autumn of this year.

The North branch of the Nashua River runs through the centre of the town, affording a great quantity of water power, chiefly appropriated to manufacturing purposes, much of which is yet unoccupied.

A quarry of Granite, apparently inexhaustible, easily wrought, and of excellent quality, is situated near the termination of the Rail-road.

Historical Memoranda of Boston in Early Times.

The Liberty Tree.

An Elm Tree, at the commencement of the American Revolution, stood in front of a grocery shop, which now makes the corner of Essex and Washington streets, of great interest and notoriety. It was a wide spreading, beautiful object, and from an early period in the history of Boston, was the centre of South-End business. Several large elms grew near by, and the place was called the neighborhood of the Elms. Aug. 14, 1765, this particular tree was selected for exposing the effigies of those men who had favored the passage of the odious stamp-act. On the 11th of September, a copperplate, 3 feet 6 inches by 2 feet 6 inches, was fixed to the trunk, bearing this inscription, in golden letters — THE TREE OF LIBERTY. Ever after, nearly all the great political meetings of the sons of liberty, were held in the square, under its waving boughs. The British made it an object of ridicule. They tarred and feathered one Ditson, whom the soldiers obliged to march in front of this tree. During the siege of Boston, about the last of August, 1775, one Job Williams was the leader of a party which cut it down. It was planted in 1646, and stood 119 years, and finally, says the Pemberton manuscript, bore the first fruits of liberty in America.

Birth Spot of Franklin.

Tradition says, that Benjamin Franklin was born in Milk street, in a house that stood on the spot where there is now a five-story brick furniture warehouse, nearly opposite the Old South Church.

Mysterious Masonry.

In the winter of 1826, an under-ground piece of masonry was discovered in Chambers street, that excited the curiosity of antiquaries. It was a brick box, 8 feet long, 4 wide, and 7 in depth; constructed of two thicknesses of brick, completely closed on all sides, and water tight. On removing the earth for some building operations, this structure was brought to light, 10 feet below the original surface of the land. Similar vaults are said to have been found on the islands in the harbor, formerly.

First Newspaper in America.

On Monday, April 24, 1704, John Campbell published, in Boston, the first newspaper ever issued in America. That first paper may now be seen in the cabinet of the Antiquarian Society, at Worcester. It was called the Boston News Letter, and was regularly published by different proprietors, for nearly 72 years. It was the only paper printed in Boston during the siege.

Franklin's Printing Office.

A paper called the Courant was published in Boston by James Franklin, who, being put under bonds for good behavior, in consequence of certain articles, left out his own name in the imprint, to evade a certain law, in 1722, and inserted his brother's, Benjamin Franklin. This is the first time that great man's name, probably, ever appeared in print. He was then a minor, and an apprentice to James. The Courant, which was publicly denounced by the celebrated Dr. Increase Mather, was printed on a half sheet of Crown paper, in Queen street. The printing office was in a building on the easterly corner of Court street and Franklin Avenue.

The First White Woman in Boston.

An old Boston Newspaper has this record, under date of December 13, 1725. 'On Monday last, died Mrs. Ann Pollard, in the 105th year of her age; and on Thursday last, was decently interred. She left of her offspring, 130.' The Rev. William Balch, of Bradford, who graduated at Harvard College in 1724, while a member, came over to Boston to dine. After dinner, his host went out and led in Mrs. Pollard, who was then 100 years of age, and still retained her faculties. She sat down and took a pipe, and told them that she came over in one of the first ships that arrived at Charlestown. In a day or two after, on account of the badness of the water in that place, a number of young people, including herself, took the ship's boat to cross over to Boston. As they drew near the shore, she being a romping girl, declared she would be the first to land; and before any one had time, she jumped from the bow on to the beach. According to her own statement, and the belief of Mr. Balch, she was the first European female that put a foot in Boston. She described Boston as being at that time very uneven, abounding in small hollows and swamps, and covered with blueberry and other bushes.

Bowdoin Street.

In consequence of the revocation of the edict of Nantes, some of the French Protestants probably fled to Boston. Pierre Baudouin, who was one of them, first went to Ireland, and subsequently to America. He landed at Casco Bay, in the State of Maine, in 1687, but soon after came to Boston. He was the ancestor of the Bowdoin, the mode of spelling the name being changed. Although the family is supposed to be nearly extinct, it is perpetuated in a beautiful street, which was at first called Middlecot street, after Dr. Middlecot, who laid it out through his pasture, and gave it to the town of Boston.

Cost of the Land for the State House.

The original cost of the land now making the site and enclosure about the State House, between Beacon and Mount Vernon streets, in 1796, is said to have been only nine thousand dollars.

Clerical Fashion.

That celebrated wit, scholar, and divine, Dr. Matthew Byles, was the first Congregational clergyman in Boston, who appeared in the pulpit in a gown and bands. His congregation considered it popery! and he was compelled to lay them aside, or preach to bare walls. The surplice that made such disturbance in the town, was sent to him by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Legal Costume of the Judges.

The next year after the difficulty with Dr. Byles, on account of the popery dress, an order came out from the British Government, requiring all the judges, when sitting on the bench, to be clothed in scarlet robes and large white wigs!

The Lord of Boston.

In 1768, a letter came from London to the Boston Post Office, addressed thus: 'To the Hon. Lord of the Manor of the Town of Boston.'

Island Forests.

An impression exists, that the islands in Boston harbor were never wooded. The fact is, they were once covered by a fine growth of trees, which remained in their original vigor and beauty, long after the settlement of Boston. On the 13th of January, 1638, 30 men went down to Spectacle Island to cut wood, fuel being very scarce in town. A great storm came up, which drove the boat still further out; and one of the number was drowned. In the year 1633, William Wood visited Boston, and subsequently wrote New England's Prospect. After a general description of the harbor, he remarks in regard to the islands, that 'the seamen, having spent their old store of wood and water, may here have fresh supplies from the adjacent islands, with good timber to repair their weather beaten ships.' Speaking of Boston, he says, 'the greatest wants are wood and meadow ground, which were never in this place, being constrained to fetch their building timber and fire-wood from the islands, in boats.' Boston was undoubtedly originally covered with a wood, which had been burnt off by the Indians, to clear the ground for planting corn, which was their custom. Mr. Wood introduces an observation in relation to the Neck: 'the marshes being not half a quarter of a mile over, so that a little fencing will secure their cattle from the wolves.'

Original Appearance and Name of Boston.

Its Indian name was Shamut, supposed by some to mean, living fountain. There was one celebrated spring, that issued from the ground in what is now Louisburg Square, which was so good and copious, that Mr. Blackstone, who lived alone in Boston, prevailed upon Governor Winthrop's friend, Mr. Johnson, to move from Charlestown over to Shamut, and others soon followed. Wood, the voyager, says, 1633, 'to the northwest is a high mountain, with three little hills on the top of it, wherefore it is called Tri-Mountain.' Tremont, the name of a street, &c., is a corruption of tri-mountain. 'From the top of this hill,' continues the author, 'a man may overlook all the islands which lie within the bay, and descry such ships as are on the sea-coast.' The highest was afterwards denominated Beacon Hill, which was carted away to make Charles street principally. Beacon street had its name from being a path near the hill.

Rev. William Blackstone's Claim to Boston.

Mr. Blackstone, by possession, had an unquestioned proprietorship to the whole peninsula of Boston. It is not known what kind of bargain he made with Johnson, when he invited him over to Shamut to reside. In April, 1633, it seems the Court recognized his ownership, a major part of which he might in some manner have disposed of, as it was ordered that 'fifty acres of ground, to be set out for him, near to his house in Boston, to belong to him for ever.' That survey embraced Leverett street, up towards Cambridge street, &c., says tradition. However, the next year, 1633, every householder agreed to pay six shillings apiece, to buy him out, all but six acres, where his house stood. With the money he purchased some cows, and moved near where Providence now is, on the Blackstone river, named for him.

Smallpox in Boston.

No city on the continent has suffered so severely by smallpox, as Boston. In 1669 it prevailed extensively; again in 1678; and in 1721, 844 persons died with it. Once more in 1752, it was exceedingly fatal to the inhabitants, and 545 died. Again, in 1764, it appeared, and 124 were carried off. Finally, in 1776, it began to reappear, and in 1792, it made another alarming and fatal visitation. It is now a disease presumed to be always in some part of the city, the year round; and were it not for a municipal law, that requires every child to be vaccinated before entering a public school, there would be seasons of great suffering and mortality, when it rages as an epidemic.

Depopulation of Boston in Ancient Times.

The only historical knowledge extant, in relation to the ancient condition of Shamut, or Boston, before the year 1625, is traditional. An aged Indian, who bore the English name, among the whites, of John Thomas, resided at Framingham. His father informed him, that when he was about 16 years old, he lived with his father at a place now called Boston; that there was then a great sickness, and the Indians lay dead in almost every wigwam. Both at Boston and Dorchester Neck, (South Boston,) so many died, that they remained unburied, and the few surviving ones removed away.

First Market in Boston.

By order of Court, in March, 1634, a market was erected in Boston, and kept open on Thursday. Samuel Cole opened the first tavern, and John Cogan, a merchant, set up the first store.

Public Records of Boston.

On the first page of the most ancient public record in Boston, is the handwriting of Governor Winthrop. It commences with the transactions of the first day of September, 1634. All the records of the four first years are probably irretrievably lost.

Public Fields in Boston.

Before 1640, there were several large enclosures in Boston, called town fields. Fort field embraced Fort hill; Mill field took in Copp's hill, on which there was a wind-mill. The new field was the land bought of Mr. Blackstone, from Cambridge street, probably, taking in the Massachusetts Hospital inclosure, and extending down to Leverett street. Mr. Colburn's field was a large part of the present Common. When emigrants arrived, a certain committee selected and gave them lots out of some of these public fields.

First Public Entertainment in Boston.

Governor Vane was treated with marked respect. 'Because he was son and heir to a privy counsellor in England,' the ships in the harbor, fifteen in all, paid a salute. The next day he invited all the masters to dinner, which was the very first entertainment of the kind in Boston.

First Cultivated Fruit.

John Josselyn arrived from England, July 3, 1638, who wrote 'New England's Rarities.' The tenth day after, he went ashore on Noddle's Island, (now East Boston,) to Mr. Sam. Maverick's, the only hospitable man in all the country. He crossed the harbor 'in a small boat to Boston, which then was rather a village than a town, there being not above 20 or 30 houses.' 'Oct. 11. Our master having been on shore upon the Governor's island, gave me half a score very fair pippins, which he brought from thence, there being not one apple-tree nor pear planted yet, in no part of the country but upon that island.' The island still bears the same name.

First Military Review in Boston.

In May, 1639, the whole military force of the Bay was mustered in Boston, in two regiments; one thousand men, well armed. Governor Winthrop headed one, who was general, and the deputy, as colonel, took command of the other. On September 15, 1641, there was a general training, that lasted two days, at which no one got drunk, 'though there was plenty of wine and strong beer in the town.'

Too Large Profits in Trade.

Capt. Keayne, in 1639, who kept a shop, was charged with taking in some cases above sixpence in the shilling profit; in some above eightpence; and in others, two for one. He was convicted and fined. After the Court had censured him, he was called to account by the Church. The case made considerable excitement, and some were for having him excommunicated.

First Vessel in Boston Harbor.

A vessel called the Mary John, under the command of Capt. Squibb, one of fourteen vessels, sailed from Cowes, March 29, 1630, in company with the Eagle, afterwards named the Arabella, having on board Governor Winthrop's colony, arrived first. Owing to a difficulty with the passengers, Capt. Squibb obliged them all to land at Nantasket, now Hull, in the outer harbor. It does not appear that the vessel came up higher. The Arabella arrived at Salem, and Governor Winthrop went through the woods on foot to Charlestown. The ship Arabella came round from Salem up Boston harbor, and anchored between Boston and Charlestown, so that the first court of assistants was held on board, Monday, August 23, 1630. This, therefore, was the first vessel of which there is any exact knowledge, that came into Boston harbor. On board the same vessel, at the second meeting of the court, September 7, 1630, it was decreed that Tri-Mountain be called Boston.

Indian Chronicles of Boston.

Miantunnomok, a celebrated Narraganset Indian Chief, on the 3d of August, 1632, visited Boston, with his wife, and stayed two nights. He was tall, cunning, and haughty. He was also called Mecumch. He went to church, but while there, some of his men, there being 12 in his suit, broke into a house and committed a theft. Complaint was made to the Governor, 'who told the sachem of it, and with some difficulty caused him to make one of his saunaps beat them.' This chief, with four other sachems, sold the island of Rhode Island and most of the other islands in Narraganset Bay, 'for the full payment of 20 fathom of white flag, to be equally divided among them.' He was also to have 20 coats, and 20 hoes, to 'give to the present inhabitants, that they shall remove themselves before next winter.'

Chikataubut, the sachem of Boston (Shamut) and its vicinity, died of the smallpox.

In 1635, the Narragansets made a treaty with the English in Boston, and engaged to aid them against the Pequots.

In November, 1640, Miantunnomok was summoned to appear in Boston, to dissipate the fears of the people of a conspiracy, which he did satisfactorily.

In Boston, the General Court of Massachusetts, 1643, ordered that the money, wampampeag, of the Indians, should pass current in the discharge of all debts not above 40 shillings; 8 of the white and 4 of the black, to be equal to a penny.

In 1645, an army assembled in Boston, to be sent against the Narragansets. August 27, deputies from that nation arrived, concluded a peace, and the army did not leave.

About the same period, Passaconaway, a sachem, on the Merrimac river, came to Boston, to acknowledge himself and his people subjects of the English.

In 1675, October 18, Canonchet, and some other Narraganset chiefs, came to Boston and made a treaty of peace.

In 1676, September 6, some Indians were hung in Boston for aiding King Philip, and about 200 were sold as slaves and sent to foreign parts.

August 25, 1676. Sagamore Sam, old Jethro, and Mautamp, three Nipmuk sachems, were hung in Boston. Potok, a celebrated chief of the Narragansets, was shot about the same period, in Boston.

As late as March 19, 1695, there being a little uneasiness on the part of the inhabitants of Boston, in regard to the title to their lots, on account of the grandchildren of the old sachem Chikitaubut, Josias Wampatuck gave a quitclaim deed of the whole, including Deer Island. The deed was also signed by Ahawton, Asa Hahaton, and Robert Momentauge. Wampatuck was sachem of Mattakeesett, and from the deeds he gave, must have owned considerable land south of Boston.

Introduction of Episcopacy into Boston.

On the 15th of May, 1686, the Rose frigate arrived, having on board the Rev. Robert Ratcliffe, the first Episcopalian clergyman ever in Boston, or New England. That vessel must have been freighted heavily with wo, says the late Dr. Greenwood, bearing as it did that minister, 'with his surplice and his book of common prayer.' It was proposed in the council, that he should have one of the three congregational meeting-houses in the town to preach in; but as that could not be accomplished then, he was granted the library-room in the east end of the town-house, which then stood on the spot now occupied by the old State-House, in State-street.'

Sir Edmund Andros, the new governor, arrived on Sunday, December 19th, 1687, at Nantasket. On the 23d of March, he sent for the keys of the Old South Church, that the Episcopalians might have prayers there. A committee remonstrated, showing it was the property of the proprietors. This was Wednesday; and on Friday he sent and commanded the sexton to open the church and ring the bell. The governor and his party thus took forcible possession, most unjustly. Whenever he pleased, from time to time, the arbitrary governor had episcopal service there, and even a state funeral service for the death of Lady Andros, the corpse being drawn to the church with six horses, the soldiers making guard from his residence to the church door. The house was lighted with torches and candles, and six mourning women sitting by the coffin. All this was a strange sight to the people of Boston.

A while after, one Lilly died, who left the ordering of his funeral to his executors. Mr. Ratcliffe undertook the funeral service, the deceased having probably belonged to his society; but the executors forbade it. Deacon Forairey, of the Old South, interrupted him, and stopped the service, for which he was bound to good behavior for twelve months. The introduction of episcopacy under the arbitrary measures of Governor Andros, first roused a spirit of independence in the people of Boston, which has never been allayed in any period of the history of New England.

Free Schools of Boston.

As early as 1668, according to the Report of the Town Treasurer to the Colonial Council, £200 were annually expended for the maintenance of three free schools, when the entire revenue, on which reliance could be placed, in Boston, did not exceed £350.

Before that period, however, it is distinctly stated in the town records, April 13, 1635, 'brother Philemon Purmont shall be intreated to become schoolmaster for the teaching and nurturing of our children.' He was the first, therefore, who taught school in Boston, if he accepted the call, which history does not mention. Mr. Daniel Maude was also chosen to the office of free schoolmaster, in August, 1635.

In 1641, the income from Deer Island, still the property of the city, was appropriated for schools; and in later years, the rent of the same, with some other islands, were devoted to the same excellent object. Sometime in 1645, 'divers free schools were erected,' and £50 per annum granted forever, for the support of the master, with a house, and £30, for an usher. Private instructors of children were then required to procure license to keep private schools. April, 1683, the town voted to provide two schools, and allow £25 per annum for the support of each. November 22, 1684, John Cole began to teach the first free writing school. His salary for one year 'was £10 in money, and £20 in country pay as money, or at money price.'

The first Latin schoolhouse was on the north side of School street at the southeast corner of the Chapel burying-ground, nearly opposite the present one, soon to be abandoned for a new and improved one in Bedford street. Early in 1713, a grammar school was opened in Ben-net street.

Before the American Revolution, two grammar and three writing schools were the only public schools in Boston. In 1800, there had got to be seven, each master enjoying a salary of $656.66, with an allowance of $200; also, seven ushers, at $333.33 each, with an allowance of $100. That year the town tax was $61,489.25, and the charge for schools, $11,100.85.

From the first settlement of our puritan forefathers, to the present day, the free school system has been maintained at a great public expense, as an indispensable institution, creditable to the liberality and far-seeing intelligence of the inhabitants of Boston in every epoch of its history.

Public Execution of Witches in Boston.

Mrs. Margaret Jones, of Charlestown, was executed in Boston, in June, 1648, accused of being a witch, for which she was condemned. She was charged with possessing a malignant touch, which infected those with a violent ail, who came in contact with her. Afterwards, in 1655, Mrs. Ann Hibbins, a miserable old woman, was executed, in the month of June. Her husband had been an agent for the colony, in England, and a merchant of Boston, of respectability; but at his death, one year before her trial, he seems to have been reduced in property. His wife's natural irritability of temper was increased by her domestic misfortunes, which made her turbulent, and a subject for the censure of the church. Although the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of witchcraft, the magistrates refused to accept it, and the case was carried to the General Court. The public sentiment and clamor set so strongly against her, she was finally condemned by the legislature, to its eternal disgrace; and Mrs. Hibbins, broken-hearted, enfeebled by age, and perhaps a lunatic, was dragged to the gallows and hung. After being taken down, 'search was made upon her body for teats, and her chests and boxes for puppets or images,' but none were found.

First Marriages by Clergymen in Boston.

Under the charter, for fear the customs of the English Church might creep into favor, clergymen were not allowed to perform any part of the ceremonies at funerals or marriages, with the exception of an occasional prayer. When Mr. Dudley became President of the Council, he issued an order, in 1680, authorizing ministers and justices to marry. There was a very considerable difficulty in 1688, in Boston, in consequence of the determination of the Rev. Mr. Ratcliffe, an episcopalian, to perform burial service over the body of one Lilly, in direct opposition to the will of his executors. From that time onward, the clergymen monopolized the business of marrying, almost entirely.

Ancient Trees.

The Great Elm, standing south of the Pond on Boston Common, for which the public authorities, from one age to another, have manifested a becoming regard, was probably planted by an ancestor of Governor Hancock's family, a Deacon Henchman. Many believe it is a native of the spot where it has grown to its present dimensions. Its age can never be satisfactorily ascertained, as the trunk was hollow many years, so that boys actually went in and out at pleasure, according to tradition, within fifty or sixty years. The concentric circles marking its growth are, therefore, obliterated. In height, the Great Elm is not far from 65 feet; extent of its branches, laterally, about 90 feet; and its girth, a little above the ground, nearly 22 feet.

It is difficult, also, to determine, with certainty, the age of the large trees on the Tremont side of the Common. Opposite the Granary Cemetery, the row of English Elms are said, on the authority of the late Major Bumstead, to have been planted in the year 1762, by Mr. Adino Paddock and Mr. John Ballard. Several of them measure nine feet in circumference, four feet from the ground.

The Jinko-Tree, a native of the East Indies, to be seen on the northerly side of the Common, nearly opposite Belknap st., is said to have been introduced into Boston by Capt. Isaiah Doane, from China, not far from fifty years ago. It was planted in his garden, which subsequently became the estate of the late Gardner Greene, Esq. The site of that garden is now Pemberton Square. When it was levelled, in 1834, to make the present improvements, the Jinko-Tree was purchased by the city and transplanted on the Common. For several years it seemed to languish so much, that its life was quite despaired of; but of late it has become vigorous, and promises to be both a favorite and a curiosity.

For the few historical items which have been collected in relation to these trees, we are indebted to De Jay Browne, Esq., who is preparing a work on the trees of America.

MAP OF THE HUDSON RIVER,

As far as Navigable,.....With the distances from New York.

Engraved on Wood, for Dickinson's Boston Almanac, by J. G. Chandler.

FORT LEE, and the scenery peculiar to the Palisades, which here bound the Hudson on the west for a distance of about twenty miles, are much visited and admired.

PIERMONT, lies at the northern termination of the Palisades, twenty-four miles north of the city of New York; here commences the New York and Erie Rail-road, where is a pier upwards of one mile in length, on the west side of Tappan Bay.

SING SING, is situated on the east side of the Hudson, thirty-three miles north of the city of New York, where is located the Mount Pleasant State Prison. Here is a magnificent stone aqueduct, one of the most imposing structures on the line of the Croton Aqueduct.

WEST POINT, lying on the west side of the river, surrounded by the "Highlands," which here present their most romantic beauties, is a place of great attraction and resort. The United States Military Academy at this place, stands high in the estimation of all true patriots,—it was founded under the auspices of the immortal Washington, who advised, "in time of peace to prepare for war."

NEWBURGH, is delightfully situated on the west side of the Hudson, and is celebrated as being for a time during the Revolutionary War, the head quarters of the American army, under the command of General Washington, whose residence still stands in good repair.

POUGHKEEPSIE, the queen of villages of the Empire State, lies on the east side of the Hudson river, surrounded by a rich and beautiful region of country. In this vicinity are situated some of the most desirable country residences to be found on the banks of the Hudson.

The MOUNTAIN HOUSE, situated on an eminence called Pine Orchard, one of the Catskill Mountain peaks, is elevated about three thousand feet above the waters of the Hudson; this is a fashionable place of resort during the summer months. It is approached from the village of Catskill by stage, distant twelve miles.

HUDSON, is situated at the head of ship navigation, one hundred and sixteen miles north of the city of New York. Here commences the Hudson and Berkshire Rail-road, which intersects the Western Rail-road of Massachusetts at the State line.

NEW LEBANON SPRINGS, situated on the northeast part of Columbia county, has long been a fashionable place of resort for the invalid and seekers of pleasure. The Shaker Settlement, in the town of New-Lebanon, is also well worthy of a visit.

ALBANY, the capital of the State, is one of the oldest cities in the U. States. It is a great thoroughfare both in summer and winter, and is rapidly increasing in numbers and wealth. Here commences the junction canal, forming the southern termination of the Erie and Champlain canals; the Mohawk and Hudson Rail-road, and the Albany and West Stockbridge Rail-road;—it is now connected with Boston on the east and Buffalo on the west by one continued line of rail-road, being distant two hundred miles from Boston, and three hundred and twenty-five miles from Buffalo, by rail-road route.

TROY, is a beautiful and enterprising place of business; which has rapidly increased in size and importance since the completion of the Erie and Champlain canals; here commences the Rensselaer and Saratoga rail-road, and the Schenectady and Troy rail-road.

COHOES FALLS, situated nine miles north of the city of Albany, on the Mohawk river, where is a perpendicular fall of seventy feet, is well worthy of a visit.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, is perhaps the most celebrated watering place on the globe; here congregate strangers from every part of the civilized world. The mineral fountains are numerous, and highly charged with medicinal properties. The quantity of fixed air which constantly escapes from some of them is truly astonishing; they form objects of great curiosity in addition to their healing qualities. The hotels for the accommodation of visitors, are large and splendid edifices, affording every comfort that can be desired by the invalid or seekers of pleasure, who, during the summer months, resort in great numbers to this gay and fashionable place.

Courts in Massachusetts.

(Prepared for the Boston Almanac, by a Member of the Boston Bar. Revised for 1844.)

mins, of Springfield, Chas. H. Warren, of New Bedford, and Pliny Merrick, of Worcester, Justices; salary $1,700 each, (Act of 1843.) Geo. C. Wilde and Joseph Willard, Joint Clerks.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

By the Act of March 1, 1843, the duties formerly performed by the Judge of this Court, are hereafter to be performed by the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas. Samuel D. Parker, Attorney of the Commonwealth for Suffolk; salary $1,500, (Act of 1843.) Thomas W. Phillips, Clerk; salary $1,200 and fees. Henry Homer, Crier.

This Court has jurisdiction of all crimes, except those where death is the punishment; these cases the law requires to be tried in the Supreme Judicial Court, the highest judicial tribunal. No appeal from questions of fact is now allowed, but questions of law may be revised before sentence, by the Supreme Court. The Municipal Court is a Court of oyer and terminer, and general jail-delivery; and as such holds terms every month in the year. Though the increase and great pressure of its business keeps it in almost constant session, yet cases are very deliberately and fairly tried there.

POLICE COURT.

John G. Rogers, James C. Merrill, and Abel Cushing, Justices; salary $1,500 each. Thomas Power, Clerk; salary $1,400. Wm. Knapp, Assistant Clerk; salary $900.

The Police Court sits every day, (Sundays excepted,) at 9 o'clock, A. M., and at 3 o'clock, P. M., for the trial of criminal causes. The same officers hold a Justices' Court for the County of Suffolk, every Wednesday and Saturday, which court exercises the same jurisdiction in civil actions, that is exercised by Justices of the Peace in other counties. Board of Accounts.—

Municipal Court; Willard Phillips, Probate Court: John Gray Rogers, James C. Merrill, and Abel Cushing, of the Police Court. Wm. Knapp, Secretary.

Fires in Boston during December, 1842. 101

The closing month of 1842 was distinguished in Boston for the number of fires, although none of them were very destructive, or attended with much loss of property.

3. Charles Copeland's confectionary shop, Court street, was fired by the furnace; damage trifling.

9. Brazer's building, State st., took fire from the escape of gas; no great damage.

10. John E. Kimball's dry goods' shop, caught from friction matches; no great damage.

19. P. C. Brooks' building, No. 14 Court st., was seriously injured by taking fire in the attic. Lawyers' offices, and Mr. Driscoll's clothing store, were essentially injured. Same day, the old Smallpox Hospital, so called, Jackson's wharf, occupied by colored people, was considerably injured. The fire caught a second time the same day.

26. A building at the corner of Washington st. and Wilson's Lane, occupied by Mr. Farwell, took fire; very little damage.

29. By the upsetting of a kettle of boiling dye, an alarm was raised of a fire at the same place; no damage, however.

30. Engine House No. 17, at South Boston, took fire from a defect in the chimney; no great damage.

In all, there were 9 fires in the city during the month; 1 at Chelsea; 1 at Charlestown; 1 at Cambridge; and the department was called out 14 times.

Fires in Boston during the year 1843.

JANUARY 9. The attic and roof of a two-story wooden building, corner of Washington and Boylston sts.; considerably injured.

21. Dry goods store of Daniel Bartlett and others, Central st.

28. A wooden building on Commercial st.; injured to the amount of only $200.

30. A little cobbler's stall in Howard st., next the Tabernacle, was supposed to have been set on fire; of little value. A four story brick block, corner of Blackstone and Ann sts. A stock of leather injured, but insured for $3000. A stock of furniture also injured in another story, about $3000, which was insured for $2000. N. L. & L. W. Manning met with a loss, in feathers, of about $500 only. E. Ames owned the building, who was insured for $7,000.

FEBRUARY 5. The W. I. goods store of Robinson, Hanson & Co., No. 14 India st., was discovered on fire by the flames bursting through the windows. Cause not known. The first and second stories considerably injured.

10. Provision store of J. Hall & Co., Bedford st., took fire from a coal stove; saved books and accounts, and was insured.

13. Cotton & Hill's chair factory, South Boston, took fire, but was speedily extinguished, without much damage. The store, corner of Fulton and Ferry sts., slightly damaged by fire. A boy, following the engines, fell and broke an arm.

16. No. 5 Winthrop Place, took fire from the furnace flue, but arrested without loss. A grocery, Blackstone st., took fire in the night. The goods were considerably injured by water and smoke. Fully insured.

21. No. 301 Washington st., a bonnet store, took fire, but saved by timely exertion, although the stock was a good deal injured.

25. The clothing store of Mr. Calrow, corner of Elm and Hanover sts., discovered to be on fire. It was immediately subdued, but the goods were badly damaged.

MARCH 22. An attempt was made to fire the stable of the City Tavern, Brattle st., by placing lighted matches in a hay-rack, through a hole in the wall; seasonably discovered to prevent a conflagration.

25. The large crockery store, corner of Washington and School sts., took fire in the 2d story, and the whole edifice was destroyed in the interior. It was believed to have caught in a drying room. Owned by D. S. Greenough, and insured. Messrs. Sumner were insured $15,000, which would nearly cover their loss on stock. B. B. Wood insured for $5,000.

29. James Waldo & Son's clothing store, Washington st., opposite Boylston Market, took fire. No great damage to the building. Stock insured for $4,000.

APRIL 7. A fire was discovered in the cellar of a brick building, Devonshire st., used as an iron tube manufactory. No great loss.

8. An unoccupied house, No. 10 Gough st., probably set on fire. Saved without much loss.

13. Stable of the Exchange Coffee House set on fire, but was saved.

19. The green house of the public garden, E. Boston, belonging to W. F. Mason, entirely consumed, with a large number of valuable plants. Loss, $6,000. Loss in grapes alone, $1,000.

25. Considerable damage done to a four story brick building, corner of Commercial and Clinton sts.

MAY 2. A double wooden dwelling at E. Boston was nearly consumed.

JUNE 4. A fire broke out in the rear of Carter's stable, Federal st., which consumed quite a number of buildings before it was subdued, and at one time threatened to become very extensive. The chief loss fell upon many poor families who were tenants.

10. Two wooden buildings on Haverhill st., occupied by carpenters and a carver, were destroyed, with most of the contents. Supposed to have been an incendiary act.

15. A fire broke out in Mr. Redman's granite building, corner of Washington and Essex sts., which considerably injured the roof and upper story. Supposed to have originated from the gas pipes in the hall fitted up for the lodge of Odd Fellows. Insurance on the property of the occupants had been made to cover nearly all the loss.

21. No. 305 Washington st. came near being consumed, but a timely discovery saved the building. Some little loss on goods.

24. A disastrous fire occurred at the corner of Causeway and Lancaster sts., which consumed several workshops, lumber, tools, and unfinished work. The Old Hero Engine was burned on this occasion, the men being compelled to abandon it, on account of the bursting in upon them of the flames.

27. Store 211 Washington st. took fire. Loss on goods about $2,000.

29. A store in Central st. was set on fire by the rays of the sun, brought to a focus through a bull's-eye pane of glass. No damage.

JULY 4. Several small fires occurred, from the first to about the middle of July, viz: No. 122 State st., in a bookbindery, at a loss of about $1000. A shed in Chambers st., by a fire-cracker; over the kitchen of a house, E. Boston; and also in Spring Lane, the New England Reporter office.

15. A 3 story brick store, Central st., occupied by several dry goods merchants, was found on fire: some damage to the different stocks by water.

17. A ten-foot grocery, corner of Essex st. and Essex place, took fire. Goods and building, to the extent of $3,500, were entirely lost. The whole interior of a building on Commercial st., head of City wharf, was destroyed. Considerable insurance had been effected on the property of some of the occupants.

24. A Manilla hat manufactory, rear of Dedham st., took fire, but was saved.

27. Owing to a defect in the chimney, the large building, corner of Devonshire st. and Spring Lane, took fire: damage slight.

AUGUST 8. A store, corner of Carver and Eliot sts., took fire; saved, however, but with damage to the contents. Insured about $1000.

11. A carpenter's shop, in Bedford st., was supposed to have been set on fire. It was discovered seasonably, and saved.

23. In North Square, a wooden building took fire from a stove. Several Irish families were considerably disturbed, but the house was finally saved.

SEPTEMBER 6. Robinson's lock factory, No. 4 Richmond st. accidentally took fire by placing hot coffee in a wooden vessel. No great damage done.

7. The roof of a ten-footer was burnt, on the Tremont road.

11. A severe fire occurred in Lancaster st., by which several workshops were destroyed, together with stocks and tools. The carpenters and their journeymen were the greatest sufferers.

14. Some shavings took fire between two carpenters' shops on Harrison Avenue, which communicated to both buildings, and ultimately destroyed several shops, beside injuring, very considerably, neighboring dwellings.

19. A fire broke out in the iron foundry, E. Boston, which destroyed three wooden buildings, beside a large stock, moulds and castings. Messrs. Randall & Curtis, owners, were insured $3,500, which nearly covered the loss.

20. The roof of a three story house in North Margin st., occupied by half a dozen families, was burned, but the building saved, with no great loss.

30. A fire in the stable of Mr. Brady, Portland st., and adjoining building. Damage not great, although a few carriages, and a horse were somewhat injured.

OCTOBER 2. Five wooden dwelling-houses were destroyed at East Boston.

4. A fire occurred at the corner of Atkinson and Milk streets, which considerably injured several buildings.

29. A fire in a juuk-shop, Broad st., destroyed some property.

NOVEMBER 3. The stable of the Exchange Coffee House. Destroyed some hay, grain, sleighs, and finally communicated to a stable and carpenter's shop in Water st. before being subdued.

7. A fire was discovered in Mr. Stimpson's manufacturing establishment, corner of Congress and Bath sts., in the upper story, which was immediately put out.

11. In the fourth story of a brick building, corner of Congress and Bath sts., a fire was discovered, but immediately extinguished. The water thrown in was very injurious to a large stock of stoves.

25. A fire broke out at 135 Hanover st, caused by hot ashes in a wooden vessel.

To the Public : —

THE present edition of the BOSTON ALMANAC is printed upon type cast at the Foundry and Printing Establishment of S. N. DICKINSON, 52 Washington St. The letter was cut by the MESSRS. WILSONS, of Edinburgh. The Scotch cut letter is proverbial for its DURABILITY, and it is hoped, from the appearance of the type itself in this little volume, it may also become proverbial for its BEAUTY.

It is now about two years since the subscriber commenced the casting of his own type. He has been eminently successful in the enterprise ; has added many new fonts to his extensive office, and is now engaged in getting up several sizes of BOOK AND NEWSPAPER TYPE, which, for BEAUTY and DURABILITY, will compare with the best English specimens of the present day.

Not long since the subscriber printed, upon type cast at his foundry, the works of the late REV. DR. NATHANAEL EMMONS, in six large octavo volumes. The work was published by Messrs. CROCKER & BREWSTER, Booksellers, of this city, and at the time, the leading journals of the city made the following commendations in regard to the execution of these volumes :

FROM THE DAILY ADVERTISER.

The work is very handsomely printed by Samuel N. Dickinson, on a new and very handsome type, which we learn is manufactured at his own establishment.

FROM THE COURIER.

We have received from S. N. Dickinson,—of whose extensive printing establishment we have frequently spoken,—a set of the works of the late Rev. N. Emmons, of Franklin, in six volumes, octavo. These volumes are printed on types of Mr. Dickinson's own manufacture, and afford a beautiful specimen of clear and even letter, agreeable and pleasant to the eye. The enterprise of manufacturing his own type is in some measure experimental, but, as we learn from a note which accompanied the volumes above mentioned, the result has been so favorable that he is encouraged to go on, and improve, if possible, this new feature in his printing establishment. Every friend to improvement in the art of printing, and to the success of American enterprise, must wish for his prosperity, and commend him to the favorable notice of the public.

FROM THE DAILY ATLAS.

We received yesterday from Sam'l N. Dickinson, a beautiful edition of the WORKS OF NATHANAEL EMMONS, D. D., in six large octavo volumes. It deserves particular notice as a specimen of printing upon type of the manufacture of Mr. Dickinson himself. It shows an evenness, clearness and beauty of letter, that cannot fail to encourage Mr. Dickinson in his experimental efforts to improve his printing establishment.

FROM THE MERCANTILE JOURNAL.

We have received from S. N. Dickinson—whose very extensive and neatly arranged printing office is well known to our readers, and which will well repay the trouble of a visit, a valuable publication, entitled "The Works of Nathanael Emmons, D. D." This publication consists of six volumes, octavo—bound in a neat and elegant style—and what is something new in the history of printing, the work is printed in Mr. Dickinson's best style, on type of his own manufacture, that furnish a clear, distinct, and beautiful letter, which it is a pleasure to read !

The experiment of manufacturing his own type was a bold one, but we learn that the favorable results which have already attended his efforts, encourage him to go on, and improve, if possible, this new feature in his printing establishment.

FROM THE MORNING POST.

With the doctrines of this beautifully printed edition of the literary productions of the late respected Dr. Emmons we have nothing to do. It is sufficient to say that the sermons are of the old school, full of christian feeling and good sense, without extravagance or bigotry, and yet pointedly and fully explaining the opinions of the author. They may be commended to all, of whatever religious belief. But our principal reason for noticing the work at present is to commend the fine style in which it has been produced by the Boston printer. The types were cast in the establishment of Mr. Dickinson, and the printing was executed under his immediate direction, and a finer specimen of the art has not been seen in this country. There is no ornament about the edition, but the plain and well marked letter, fair paper, and broad margin, give it a substantial and chaste appearance, well suited to the character of the contents. The printing of the note accompanying the volumes is very beautiful. It is on very fine paper, though from the same type; showing that it is admirably adapted for costly and ornamental publications. Mr. Dickinson is entitled to great credit for his enterprise and perseverance in his business—it is gratifying to know that he meets with deserved success and patronage.

FROM THE AMERICAN TRAVELLER.

But we did not intend to notice the contents only of these volumes, and must add a word or two respecting the peculiar beauty of their typography. Our country, within the last few years, has not made more rapid advancement in any branch of the arts, than in that which is 'preservative of all arts.' An examination of a single shelf of any of our libraries, will show the contrast in the works issued from the American press twenty years ago, and at the present time. And it is to the active enterprise and untiring industry of a few, that we are indebted for the great improvement exhibited in book-making.

We are so well satisfied, from our own examination, and from the opinions of several practical printers, with the typography of Dr. Emmons's works, that we not only venture the remark, that they are highly creditable to the American press; but we may safely challenge any of Mr. Dickinson's cotemporaries, type-founders, type-setters, press-men, or publishers, to produce a work of superior clearness and elegance. The letter is of handsome form, well proportioned, clear, and even, throughout the various sizes used in the book. The style of the small letter is particularly beautiful, and some of it appears entirely new in this country.

FROM THE BOSTON RECORDER.

The typographical execution of the volumes is very fine, and affords a beautiful specimen of printing on type of the printer's own manufacture. Improvements in the arts go hand in hand with the intellectual and moral improvements of the age, and give sure presage of the early coming of the day when all men shall know the Lord, from the least to the greatest.

FROM THE CHRISTIAN WATCHMAN.

These volumes were printed at the establishment of Mr. S. N. Dickinson, of this city, upon type of his own manufacture, in a style of superior elegance. The letter is even and clear, the surface of the page delicately smooth, and we have rarely seen printing on which the eye rests with more pleasure than on this. Mr. Dickinson deserves high credit and liberal patronage for his ingenuity and enterprise in this department of labor.

FROM THE TRUMPET AND UNIVERSALIST MAGAZINE.

Dr. Emmons was a Calvinist, as Dr. Ely used to say, 'up to the hub.' He was a bold writer; no half-way man; full of wit; but strongly attached to his system. If he had not been wedded to the doctrine of endless misery, he would have been an ardent Universalist. He would never have ranked among the indefinites; you would have known where to find him.

But we did not commence this article to speak of Dr. Emmons or his works, but rather of the excellent style in which these volumes are printed. They were printed by Mr. Samuel N. Dickinson, 52 Washington street, Boston, from type manufactured at his establishment. We doubt whether there is a printer in the United States who excels Mr. D. He manufactures his type, and consequently can change his fonts as often as he pleases; and undoubtedly does change them, much oftener than he would, if he had to buy. He has constantly in his employ the most experienced workmen; and is careful to obtain all the new and improved specimens of type. With all these advantages, he is enabled to stand at the head of the printers of Boston, yea, of the whole country, for the beauty of his work. The six volumes before us are an honor to the Boston press, — the mechanical execution is beautiful, — beautiful. We do not intend by any means to disparage the rest of the printers of Boston. This city stands at the head of the Union for good printing. But where there are so many that are good, it is the higher honor for Mr. Dickinson to excel.

FROM THE EVENING GAZETTE.

We have received the works of the late Rev. Nathanael Emmons, D. D. of Franklin, Mass. They are published in six volumes, by Crocker & Brewster. They are printed by S. N. Dickinson, from type of his own manufacture, and certainly a more elegant specimen of typography never was issued from any establishment in the country. For uniformity and beauty of the letter, clearness and distinctness of the impression, these volumes are unequalled.

FROM THE NEW ENGLAND PURITAN.

The work was issued from the press of Mr. S. N. Dickinson, in a style of great mechanical beauty, on type cast by him expressly for the purpose, and is one of the numerous evidences of the high degree of perfection to which the mechanic arts have arrived.

FROM THE MONTHLY MISCELLANY.

It is seldom indeed, that theology, in the stern features in which on some of its leading topics it is here presented, appears in so attractive a dress. The volumes are from the press of Mr. Samuel N. Dickinson of this city, with types manufactured in his own establishment; and could the printing of a book recommend the doctrines it inculcates, these sermons of Dr. Emmons would not want a powerful aid. The whole execution as a specimen of typographical art is an honor to the country.

From the above data, it will be seen that the subscriber is prepared to execute the best of

and to a great extent. Having large fonts of type constantly on hand, he is enabled to throw a whole volume into type before putting a single sheet to press. This mode of doing the business is frequently of much importance to the publisher. He is also fully prepared to execute of every description, at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

JOB PRINTING

The subscriber will supply other Printers with any of his

on as good terms as type can be obtained at any respectable foundry in the country. Any font or fonts not giving entire satisfaction, may be returned.

S. N. DICKINSON.
